Region represented in Thoroughbred Industry Employee Awards

Several members of the Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred community were among the recipients of honors from the Thoroughbred Industry Employee Awards in results announced in October. Presented by Godolphin at Keeneland Oct. 15, the awards recognize people for excellence in various areas of the industry.

"We feel so fortunate to be able to once again bring all of the finalists back to an in-person event," said Katie LaMonica, charities manager for Godolphin USA. "While last year's virtual ceremony still provided a platform from which we could recognize these outstanding people, it just means so much more to bring them to together and let them have their moment in the spotlight among family, friends and colleagues."

Broadcaster Caton Bredar was the master of ceremonies for the event, with Hall of Fame trainer Steve Asmussen on hand to present awards.

"It's an honor for Hallway Feeds to be part of such an important and meaningful event," said Lee Hall, vice president of Hallway, sponsor of the Dedication to Breeding award. "We interact with so many workers from area farms, racetracks and other organizations that we see firsthand what they do day in and day out. To see these tremendous, hard-working individuals get a well-deserved pat on the back is very, very special."

The honorees with regional ties included:

- Charles Town (West Virginia) track kitchen operator Brenda Wilhelm, who won the Support Services Award.
- Runnymede (Pennsylvania) assistant broodmare manager Calvin Smith, who won the Dedication to Breeding Award.
- Herringswell Stables (Maryland) office manager Sue Kenny, runner-up in the Katherine McKee Administration Award category.
- Maryland Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association director of racetrack operations Diana Pinones, runner-up in the Dr. J. David "Doc" Richardson Community Award category.

NAMES OF THE MONTH

My Thoughts. Harry Kassap's 2-year-old Maryland-bred filly, second in the Maryland Million Lassie at 39-1, is by Editorial.

Immoral. The 2-year-old trained by Brittany Russell for owner/breeder LNJ Foxwoods, a winner first-time out at Charles Town in November, is by Into Mischief out of Idonowidont, by Broken Vow.

Grunion. Bruce Collette's 5-year-old Virginia-bred gelding is named for a sardine-sized species of fish found off the coast of California and Mexico. Grunion's dam, Jordani, is named for another fish, this one found in the northwestern Pacific Ocean. Collette is a world-renowned ichthyologist—a person who studies fish—and he and his wife Sara (who died in October at age 86) have bred and raced primarily steeplechasers from the farm Pageland in Casanova, Va., since the 1970s.

MILESTONES

Won: His 2,000th race as a trainer, Mike Trombetta, when Mr Jefferson won the eighth race at Laurel Park Nov. 4. The Larry Johnson homebred 2-year-old colt led a 1-2 finish for the Trombetta barn, outrunning Bold Leader by 1½ lengths. Trombetta, 55, entered October with 1,993 wins and pulled to within one of the milestone when Conclusive scored at Laurel Oct. 31. The Baltimore native was exposed to racing as a teenager as his father Rudy owned some horses. Mike became a hotwalker and a groom, working in the morning at Pimlico Race Course before getting to Perry Hall High in time for afternoon classes, and saddled his first runner in 1986. Amant de Coeur provided the first win, at Atlantic City, in 1986 and Trombetta gradually built a business into one of the most successful in the Mid-Atlantic. Trombetta bases strings at Laurel and Fair Hill Training Center all year, but also takes horses to Florida in the winter and to Saratoga Race Course in the summer. He has topped $1 million in purse earnings every year since 2005 and at least $3 million since 2007, with a career bankroll of more than $68.4 million. The Maryland Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association trainer of the year in 2005, Trombetta finished second in the 2006 Preakness Stakes-G1 with Sweetnorthernsaint and has trained Grade 1 winners Win Win Win, Wet Your Whistle and Next Question.

Won: His 1,000th race as a trainer, Claudio Gonzalez, when He's a Shooter won the seventh race at Laurel Park Oct. 14. Gonzalez won his first race at Laurel in 2012 and has reached the $1 million mark in season purse earnings every year since 2013 with a high of $5.2 million to go along with 154 wins in 2020. He won a career-best 174 races in 2019. The native of Chile came to the United States in 1995 with hopes of becoming a jockey, but he grew too big for that career and galloped for trainer Juan Serey and later worked for Gary Contessa and Ben Perkins Jr. The 44-year-old is based at Laurel and has been Maryland's overall leading trainer by wins since he relocated full-time from New Jersey in 2017. He owns or shares 17 training titles between Laurel and historic Pimlico Race Course, including both full meets in 2021—Laurel's winter stand and the extended Preakness Meet at Pimlico.

Identified and registered: More than 35,000 Thoroughbreds using the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau's digital tattoo system introduced less than three years ago. The digital tattoo is an electronic authentication confirming the identity of a horse by a TRPB technician. "Every racing 2-year-old, every 3-year-old and a significant share of 4-year-olds have digital tattoos and by the end of 2021, we estimate that 75 percent of Thoroughbreds will enter the racetrack paddock with a digital tattoo," said J. Curtis Linnell, executive vice president of the Fair Hill, Md.-based TRPB. The digital tattoo process begins when the technician scans the horse's microchip and if correctly reported, the microchip number hyperlinks to The Jockey Club electronic registration information viewed on a tablet. Using foal pictures as a reference, each marking's description is compared to the horse's physical markings. After verification, the technician documents the horse by taking 12-14 digital photos. These pictures are uploaded to The Jockey Club's registry database thus becoming part of the horse's digital record. The TRPB technician then affixes a TRPB logo on the electronic certificate of registration. This seal indicates that the TRPB has verified the identity of the horse and certified that the Thoroughbred is digitally tattooed in the breed registry's database. The system replaces the lip tattoo process used for decades, but phased out with the introduction of microchipping technology. With the success and widespread adoption of the new system, the TRPB is striving for improvement in two areas: increased awareness and deployment of the InCompass Solutions Digital Identifier mobile app for race-day horse identification; and broader utilization by the racing industry of digital tattoo information. With a username and password provided by InCompass, horse identifiers, race office personnel, barn area security and other racetrack officials may automatically access the digital tattoo file that includes the photo of the horse's face, photos of every marking, the name of the horse, the horse's color, and the certificate of foal registration from The Jockey Club. "These individuals now have immediate access to the horse's picture ID, which is akin to a passport or driver's license and with more identification tools than they've ever had available previously," Linnell said. Brewed: A Talk Show Man hazy pale ale, named for two-time Maryland Million Turf winner Talk Show Man, Farmacy Brewing in Reisterstown, Md. Owned by Justin Harrison, son of Talk Show Man's owner/breeder Dr. Michael Harrison, Farmacy is on part of the family's Willowdale Farm. Talk Show Man, the beer, is described as a hazy pale ale brewed with fresh ginger and dry-hopped with Nelson Sauvin and Motueka hops and a 6% ABV. "His beer is, I think, one of the better ones so I'm very happy with it," Michael Harrison said. "I told my son when he was making the beer and was going to name it after Talk Show Man that it better be a good beer. We don't want Talk Show Man getting anything that's not a good, popular beer, for sure."

ERIN HARRISON

Talk Show Man, the horse, won eight of 40 career starts and earned $456,556. The retired 11-year-old took part in the Thoroughbred Makeover and National Symposium, presented by Thoroughbred Charities of America, at Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington in October—in the show hunter and field hunter classes.

Sold: To the private equity management firm Clairvest Group, Clairvest Equity Partners VI and a subsidiary of Rubico Gaming (run by Thomas Benninger), Delaware Park racetrack and casino. Announced by Clairvest Nov. 5, the sale is subject to regulatory approvals and could occur by the end of this year. Delaware Park would be the 30th casino/racetrack ownership interest for Clairvest. Founded in 1937 by the duPont family, Delaware Park has been owned by the Rickman family since 1983.

Doubled Up

Maryland-breds Aloha West, Knicks Go score at Breeders' Cup

BY TOM LAW

Katy Voss knows what most in and around Maryland's racing and breeding world figured while watching the 38th Breeders' Cup World Championship unfold at Del Mar.

"Bob would have been in his element," Voss said, referring to Bob Manfuso, her life partner and co-breeder of the Qatar Racing Breeders' Cup Sprint-G1 winner Aloha West. Manfuso died in March 2020, but he'd have loved the moment.

"We would have been there if he was here," Voss said. "He never missed a single Breeders' Cup. He was on the board for quite awhile. He chaired a committee, back when they brought in a whole bunch of changes."

Voss watched the Sprint at home with friends, cheering on the colt by Hard Spun out of the graded stakes-winning Speightstown mare Island Bound as he came from an impossible spot in sixth place and about 4 lengths back at the eighth pole to win by a nose. The 11-1 Aloha West and jockey Jose Ortiz, riding for the second time, won a head-bob with Dr. Schivel in 1:08.49.

"Very, very exciting," Voss said. "I thought he had a really good chance. I've been watching him ever since the first time he ran. It was fun. The way he kicked in that last part was amazing, because it looked like, 'God, he can't get up from there.' When he hit the wire I thought he won, then when they showed it again I wasn't so sure. Then they showed it again and I said, 'I think so.'"

Born and raised at Manfuso and Voss' Chanceland Farm in West Friendship, Md., Aloha West kicked off a big day for Maryland that also included Knicks Go's front-running domination of the $6 million Longines Breeders' Cup Classic-G1. Aloha West joined Knicks Go—already the winner of last year's Big Ass Fans Breeders'

Cup Dirt Mile-G1 at Keeneland–as one of six Maryland-bred Breeders' Cup winners.

Maryland's Breeders' Cup victories come in bunches, apparently. Safely Kept won the 1990 Sprint, and Concern and Cigar won back-to-back Classics in 1994 and 1995. And a Maryland-bred has won a Breeders' Cup race for three consecutive years, with Sharing taking the Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies Turf-G1 in 2019, Knicks Go last year, and two in 2021.

"It was a huge day for Maryland, huge," Voss said.

Aloha West impressed during his week in Southern California leading up to his big effort, often going to and from the track and through the paddock with trainer Wayne Catalano on the shank. Aron Wellman of Eclipse Thoroughbred Partners, which bought the colt privately from Gary and Mary West after his second start in March at Oaklawn Park, was out daily to watch Aloha West train and school in the paddock.

Voss liked what she saw from the colt while watching televised morning training shows from home, and received some confirmation from her sister Lizzie Merryman, in San Diego to watch her Pennsylvania-bred Caravel compete in the Turf Sprint.

"Lizzie called me after she had just watched him train and said 'Boy, he looks fantastic,'" Voss said.

Like most Chanceland yearlings, Aloha West went to the 2018 Maryland Horse Breeders Association's yearling show in Timonium. Manfuso and Voss wound up with the champion at the show, but it wasn't Aloha West–he didn't finish in the top five in his class as a colt by Fed Biz out of the Elusive Quality mare Proficient took home the overall championship.

Aloha West went to the Mayer family's Nursery Place Farm in Lexington not long after the yearling show to be prepped for the Keeneland September sale about two months later. Manfuso's ties with Nursery's John Mayer go way back, and the two teamed to breed Aloha West's dam. Island Bound RNA'd twice in the Keeneland sales ring–for $90,000 as a weanling and $95,000 as a yearling–and she eventually raced in Manfuso's colors, winning five times with eight seconds and three thirds for $277,790 in earnings.

Island Bound won the 2012 Winning Colors Stakes-G3 at Churchill Downs and placed in four other stakes including the 2012 Honorable Miss Handicap-G2 at Saratoga for Manfuso and trainer Ian Wilkes. She made her last three starts for Voss at Laurel Park, including an allowance third to end her career in early 2013.

Aloha West is Island Bound's fourth foal, following the $500,000 Tiznow yearling colt Sailing West, two-time winning Animal Kingdom mare Island Getaway and the two-time winning Noble Mission (GB) gelding Noble Way. Sailing West and Island Getaway had made the races when Aloha West went through the ring early in the fifth session of the 2018 Keeneland September sale. He sold for $160,000 to Ben Glass, agent for the Wests, who also bought Sailing West.

Aloha West didn't make it to the races until early in 2021 and won his debut going 6 furlongs at Oaklawn Park before a fifth at the same distance in an allowance a month later.

Eclipse Thoroughbred Partners' Aron Wellman watched both races and inquired about the lightly-raced colt during a discussion with trainer Wayne Catalano about another horse the syndicate planned to send to the veteran trainer.

"What about that horse Aloha West?" Wellman asked. "That horse ran sneaky good."

"That horse can run," Catalano replied.

"I'd seen the horse break his maiden first time out and thought it was impressive the way he did it," Wellman said. "It was a little premature to get the horse bought from the Wests at that time . . . then he came back [in March] and got buried, had no chance, got slammed at the start, checked three, four times down on the rail. Nobody's fault but he was totally unsettled that day.

"I think he was faster than any other at Oaklawn . . . I've bought some horses off the Wests in the past that have similar profiles because their program is predominantly geared toward the classics and this horse had missed his 2- and 3-year-old season."

Catalano, winner of more than 1,500 races as a jockey and almost 3,000 as a trainer, helped put together the sale and Aloha West made his first start in Eclipse's light blue and black colors in early April at Keeneland. He won three times, placed twice–including the Phoenix Stakes-G2 at Keeneland Oct. 8 before the Breeders' Cup–and finished fourth in the Kelly's Landing Stakes at Churchill Downs before his victory at Del Mar.

Two of the victories in that stretch came at Saratoga, first at 6 furlongs, then at 7 furlongs. Catalano entered Aloha West in the 1-mile Ack Ack Stakes-G3 at Churchill Oct. 2 (and scratched), three days before Chanceland offered the colt's yearling half-sister by Good Samaritan in the Fasig-Tipton Midlantic fall yearling sale. Moquist, Aloha West's 3-year-old half-sister by Nyquist sold at the same sale in 2019 for $50,000, had improved to 2-for-2 at that point.

"I brought her in thinking I didn't need to sell this filly right now, I can bring her back, let Aloha West and Moquist get their black type, bring her back in the spring at the 2-year-old in training sale," Voss said.

The Good Samaritan filly didn't sell on a $47,000 bid–just below Voss' reserve–and she returned to Chanceland.

Talk about catalog updates. Aloha West finished second in the Phoenix and upset the Breeders' Cup Sprint. And Moquist won twice more to run her record to 4-for-4.

"At the time I thought [Moquist] and Aloha West would both get black type so I wasn't going to give her away," Voss said. "I put a $50,000 reserve on her. I thought the market should have given me that, but they didn't . . . Now with him winning the Breeders' Cup I might just decide to keep her; check her in for the broodmare band eventually."

Aloha West has another half-sister, a weanling filly by Divining Rod bred by Chanceland that could also wind up in a sale or the broodmare band and Island Bound is in foal to Golden Lad.

"The mare has some stifle issues, so we have to be very careful with her and I don't know how many more years we can breed her," Voss said. "So, I'd be looking to keep one of her daughters for sure."

Knicks Go

Angie and Sabrina Moore sold Knicks Go not long into his life back in 2016 and have enjoyed the ride from near and afar ever since.

The latest high mark came four races after Aloha West started the monster day for Maryland when Knicks Go rolled to his 2¾-length victory over Kentucky Derby-G1 winner Medina Spirit and Belmont Stakes-G1 and Travers Stakes-G1 winner and last year's champion 2-year-old male Essential Quality. The 5-year-old son of Paynter led from the start under Joel Rosario, getting 1¼ miles in 1:59.57, to all but lock up North American Horse of the Year and champion older dirt male honors for 2021.

The Moores watched Knicks Go's latest tour de force from Del Mar and soaked up the scene after with trainer Brad Cox and his crew and representatives of owner Korea Racing Authority.

"So humbling, to just be a little farm and get in the mix with all these amazing owners, breeders and horses," said Angie Moore, making her way through the tunnel to the interview and champagne toast room.

As she reached the end of the tunnel and back into the fading daylight, Moore stopped on the woodchip horse path to consider the moment. She thought about how Despinas Desire was the best horse her family's small operation at GreenMount Farm in Reisterstown was associated with at one time, and how claiming the Outflanker mare Kosmo's Buddy "was the most amazing thing we could have ever done."

Asked to sum up the day while walking back afterward, Moore began with "I just hope other breeders . . ." before she was interrupted in mid-sentence.

"Excuse me, we're trying to take a picture here," said the interrupter, pointing to his posed influencer-in-training framed in the middle of the tunnel with the lights from the infield tote boards to her back.

Moore could only laugh, not minding at all being lauded as the breeder of the winner of the most important race on

MHBA Yearling Show ribbon winners exceed expectations at Timonium sale

The Maryland Horse Breeders Association's 87th yearling show, pushed to Aug. 1 to accommodate the Maryland State Fair's commitment to serve as a mass Covid-19 vaccination site through mid-summer, hosted 87 yearlings judged by four-time New York leading trainer Gary Contessa.

Contessa combined his experience as a trainer and agent to select the top five horses for each of the four classes.

His selections paid off in the sales ring as the results of the Fasig-Tipton Midlantic fall sale at Timonium Oct. 4-5 revealed that 14 of the 20 ribbon winners, including the grand champion and two other class winners, sold for a combined $1.1 million. The group averaged $78,751, with a median of $61,000.

"I was amazed by the group of horses they led past me because Maryland just had such a great group of horses, I was really impressed," said Contessa. "I go to sales every year and I work as an agent for various owners at sales, and I left that show saying, 'God I hope I'm right,' and I just love the verification from this group of yearlings [knowing] that they sold so well."

The highest-priced yearling of the group, the Class II winner, sold for $220,000 to Mac Robertson, agent for Novogratz Racing Stable. Consigned by breeder Dark Hollow Farm, the Union Rags colt was the highest-priced Maryland-bred and third-highest price overall. The 10th foal out of the Flatter mare Safe Journey is a half-brother to stakes winners Joy and O Dionysus, along with stakes-placed Combat Diver.

"The Maryland-bred horses looked better and they behaved better," said JoAnn Hayden, who owns Dark Hollow with her husband David. "The bar has been raised and everybody in Maryland that's breeding and taking horses to that show has helped raise that bar and they continue to make it higher, which I think continues to benefit all of us."

Dark Hollow had six yearling show ribbon winners this year and sold five, including another Union Rags colt, out of stakes winner Joy, for $100,000 to Cary Frommer.

Contessa's grand champion, a filly by Street Sense out of the Grade 2 winner Belterra, won Class IV and went through Chanceland Farm's consignment, where she sold for $200,000 to Cash is King. Bred by the late Bob Manfuso and owned by his longtime partner Katy Voss, she is a full-sister to stakes winner Taketheodds; a half-sister to Sheave, dam of Grade 1 winner Cathryn Sophia; and a half-sister to stakes-placed Mine Not Mine.

"I love seeing Katy Voss' horse selling for $200,000 and I love seeing the Dark Hollow horse that went for $220,000," said Contessa. "They were class winners and I just love that I got the verification stamp from my peers on my horses. That probably means more to me than anything."

A Tiznow filly out of the Not For Love mare Pinkprint, second in Class IV, was consigned by GreenMount Farm and sold for $150,000 to SBM. Bred by GreenMount and Tiznow Syndicate, the filly is the third foal out of her dam, a half-sister to Breeders' Cup Classic-G1 winner Knicks Go.

Of course, Contessa knew none of that as the judge simply assessed the horses in front of him.

"The judge this year was renowned as an agent, as a trainer, and just as an all-around good horseman. Once [the horses] checked all the boxes, even though they were not carbon copies of each other, he had that ability to see what maybe a future buyer, or a future trainer, might find attractive," said Hayden. "So when we got to the sale, those horses that had been at the top of his list were attractive to agents and to buyers."

Other notable show graduates in the sale included a colt by West Coast out of Dr. Diamonds Prize, fifth in Class II, consigned by co-breeder Dark Hollow and sold for $77,000 to Mopo Racing; a colt by Frosted out of Happy Refrain, fourth in Class II, consigned by Marshall Silverman and sold for $67,000 to Robertson, agent for Xtreme Racing Stables; a filly by Unified out of No, third in Class IV, consigned by breeder Dark Hollow and sold for $67,000 to Frommer.

"I just love that I had that opportunity and I'm glad that I got kind of that stamp of approval from my peers at the sale afterwards, so now we'll just follow their careers," said Contessa. "I'd like to see one of them win a graded stake."

– Sara Gordon

Prices soar at fall breeding sales

Stakes-winning mares bred in the Mid-Atlantic region were hot commodities in a hot market at Fasig-Tipton and Keeneland's Kentucky fall mixed sales that kicked off in Lexington three days after the Breeders' Cup.

Two-thirds of the way through Keeneland's massive Breeding Stock Sale (through Nov. 15) nearly 50 regionally-bred horses grossed just shy of $8 million, with three exceeding a half-million dollars.

Jump Start's daughter Vault, winner of the Grade 2 Ruffian Stakes at Belmont Park earlier this year, sold for $850,000 to Stonestreet Thoroughbred Holdings. Vault, her Grade 1-winning half-sister Mirth (a $1.05 million sales mare in 2020) and stakes-placed full brother Heat Dome were all bred in Pennsylvania by Larry Karp's Barlar LLC out of the French Deputy mare Di's Delight. Sold as a racing or broodmare prospect, Vault has earnings of $491,914 while winning or placing in six stakes.

Horologist (bred in New Jersey by Holly Crest Farm) went to Katsumi Yoshida for $800,000 just days after her second Breeders' Cup Distaff-G1 appearance. The daughter of Gemologist has multiple stakes wins each of the past three seasons, three graded, while earning $962,939 in 27 starts.

The 11-year-old broodmare Jazz Tune brought the third-highest price when selling to Hunter Valley Farm for $585,000. Bred in Virginia by Edward P. Evans and a winner of one of her four career starts, the Johannesburg mare from the family of Grade 1 winner Another Review is the dam of 2021 Claiborne Breeders' Futurity-G1 winner Rattle N Roll and is in foal to Liam's Map.

Of the 49 regionally-bred horses sold over the first six sessions, 27 brought six figures.

HnR Nothhaft Horseracing LLC's multiple stakes winner Grand Prix, carrying her second foal, was the top regional-bred at Fasig-Tipton's one-day The November Sale Nov. 9. The half-sister to Breeders' Cup Filly and Mare Sprint-G1 and Eclipse Award-winning Finest City, Grand Prix (by Tale of the Cat) sold in foal to Munnings for $600,000 to David Campbell.

Caravel traveled back from her Breeders' Cup debut in the Turf Sprint-G1 and sold to Fergus Galvin agent for $500,000 as a racing or broodmare prospect. Bred by Elizabeth Merryman in Pennsylvania, Caravel (Mizzen Mast—Zeezee Zoom-zoom, by Congrats) was a graded winner and Grade 1-placed this year at 4, and through a dozen starts had earned $400,169, her last four while co-owned by Merryman with Bobby Flay.

Eleven Mid-Atlantic-breds exited the ring at Fasig-Tipton's marquee breeding stock sale, realizing more than $3 million (an average of $278,818), with eight selling for $145,000 or more.

Gilded Cove

Gilded Cove and Jacqueline Bracho at Fair Hill during their ponying days.

"I want to ride HIM, Mom."

The announcement struck momentary dread into the hearts of trainer Sherene Bracho and her former husband, jockey Jesus Bracho, when uttered by their young daughter Jacqueline 12 years ago. "Him" was Gilded Cove, a recently retired 8-year-old gelding trained by Sherene's father, Victor Chung.

The Chung and Bracho families were well versed in all the horse's habits and idiosyncrasies, and teaching Jacqueline to ride on him was never on any of their Bingo cards. But to a little girl who grew up seeing him in the barn, Gilded Cove "was that magical dream—a big, white horse."

Bred by Sez Who Thoroughbreds, Gilded Cove was foaled in New York on April 30, 2001. The gray son of champion Gilded Time and the Believe It mare Pumpkin Cove went to an OBS sale as a 2-year-old in April 2003, and was purchased by George Alvarez for $13,000. Alvarez ran the horse in claiming races in Florida from his debut on Oct. 17, 2003, until April 23, 2005, winning once in 14 starts.

Shipped north to Monmouth that July, Gilded Cove was claimed twice at Delaware Park before Victor Chung got him for $7,500 for his family's S.M.S. Racing at Laurel Park Nov. 17, 2005. The Mid-Atlantic tracks suited the horse; he was in the money in all 10 starts before Chung's claim, including a win at Philadelphia Park.

He proved himself a blue-collar workhorse, running regularly—in claiming and lower-level allowance and starter allowances—and collecting checks more frequently than not over the next three years. Entered for a $16,000 tag at Philadelphia Park Oct. 27, 2008, he was claimed by trainer Scott Lake for Home Team Stables.

"We really didn't think anyone would take him," Sherene said. "We had put him in a bit over his head, thinking that would be his last race before giving him the winter off."

She sent a message through a mutual acquaintance that they'd love to have the horse back when his new connections were ready to retire him. Lake ran Gilded Cove a month later in an allowance at Philadelphia Park; he finished last.

Lake returned Sherene's message and informed her that the gelding's next start would be in a $5,000 claimer at Philadelphia Park. On Dec. 8, 2008, Gilded Cove won, Victor Chung claimed him, and his retirement with the family began. His final numbers read 54-5-12-13 and $113,970.

Young Jacqueline Bracho spoke up, telling her mother "This is my horse. I want this horse."

"And he was a lovely, lovely horse," Sherene said. "But he had dropped every single person that sat on him, including me. He was never dirty, but when he got spooked, he would whip really fast and drop us."

In her early lessons, Jacqueline would ride beside her father, Jesus, in the paddock behind the family's barn at Fair Hill Training Center. On the day of her first solo venture, he and Sherene stood at opposite ends of the paddock as Jacqueline pointed the horse toward her mother.

"When Jacqueline started to jog, she was just boing-boing-boing-boing on his back, the reins fell out of her hands . . . and Cove dropped his head, was as steady as can be and didn't do a thing wrong. He guaranteed his life-long home that day; he was never going anywhere after that."

Mother and daughter still laugh remembering the change in Gilded Cove's demeanor once he began his second career as a little girl's horse.

"I'd have to put a chain shank on him to walk him anywhere," Sherene said, "He'd be bouncing with his tail up over his back, snorting. But this little girl would drop a pony shank on him and he'd walk behind her with his head down at her height. He said, 'This is my person;' and she said, 'This is my horse,' and that was that."

Growing up in a working racing stable meant helping out with the horses, and together Jacqueline and Gilded Cove became important members of the team.

"I was constantly working at Fair Hill with my parents, so going out into the fields became me going out into the fields ponying the racehorses," Jacqueline said.

The pair gradually progressed to ponying on the track, with Jacqueline accompanying her father as he galloped or breezed their horses. One morning, Gilded Cove called a memorable audible.

As she jogged beside Jesus before turning him loose to breeze, Jacqueline felt her horse getting stronger.

"I told my dad I couldn't hold him. So I let go of the pony strap on the racehorse, and I was just holding on. I was fighting Cove a little at that point trying to get him to stop. When we hit the turn he got on the rail, dropped his head, switched his lead and said, 'I'm gonna finish first.' "

Jacqueline knew enough not to panic. At first, Jesus attempted to ride up beside and grab her, but Gilded Cove stayed just far enough in front to prevent that solution.

"There was so much adrenaline and it happened so quickly that my thought process just kicked in," Jacqueline said. "I can't fight him anymore because that's dangerous for both of us. So I relaxed. And Cove pulled himself up right past the wire. Afterward, I was shaking. But I was also walking home with a giant smile like 'I'll do that again.'"

They never did that again, but they did continue in their role at the barn for several years until two years ago, when Gilded Cove sent the message that he'd had enough. After two frightening episodes where the gelding acted up on the track and fled back to the barn–once with Jacqueline aboard and once loose–his days as the barn pony ended.

"We have a very close relationship, so I know him very well," Jacqueline said. "He made it clear he was really done. After that we said it was dangerous for him and for me; he clearly didn't want to do it anymore. So that's how he ended up retired."

A senior at Penn State in State College, Pa., Jacqueline graduates this month. She returns home every few weeks or so and visits the soon-to-be 21-year-old Gilded Cove, who lives at her mother's farm in Avondale, Pa.

"And that's forever," Sherene added.

"He's just hanging out at home with other retired horses," Jacqueline said. "I'll go to pet him, and he'll let me–but the second he sees a halter or a shank, he runs away from me. He's made it very clear. I was like, 'I was gonna bring you in the barn, but it's OK. You enjoy being dirty outside.' So I guess I don't really have a big white horse anymore." ✹

Maryland shines at Breeders' Cup

Bill Reightler stood along the low wall behind the seats in the Timonium sales pavilion and bid $100,000 to buy a dark bay Not For Love filly with three lifetime wins, two in stakes, and some pedigree. Also the filly's consignor, Reightler was a little sheepish when it came to a post-purchase interview.

"I don't normally do that," he said of buying a horse he sold. He had a good reason for raising his hand though. An hour earlier, client Angie Moore had called to say she was interested in buying the filly, Maryland-bred 3-year-old Mystic Love. The filly would be a present of sorts for Moore's daughter Sabrina, just starting out in the Thoroughbred business.

Reightler bid $100,000, and Angie Moore presented a "gift" to her daughter. There was no wrapping paper, no big bow, but plenty of reasons.

"I want to see her succeed in this business," Angie Moore said at the time, "to make a career of it."

Mission accomplished.

Mystic Love, purchased for the Moores' GreenMount Farm at Fasig-Tipton Midlantic's December mixed sale in 2013, played her part–producing a $95,000 weanling and a $100,000 yearling–as Sabrina and Angie Moore got GreenMount off the ground. The farm delivered foals, took consignments to the sales, brought in outside clients, expanded to an adjacent farm and–as of Nov. 6–reached the top of the Thoroughbred world thanks to Knicks Go.

Foaled at GreenMount in Reisterstown, Md., bred by Angie and raised by Sabrina, the gray 5-year-old sped off with the $6 million Longines Breeders' Cup Classic-G1 at Del Mar–passing $8.6 million in career earnings. He should be a unanimous Horse of the Year and champion older male after adding the Classic to a 2021 record that already included wins in the Pegasus World Cup-G1, Prairie Meadows Cornhusker-G3, Whitney-G1 and Lukas Classic-G3.

His dam, Kosmo's Buddy, came a few years ahead of Mystic Love but the plan was the same–acquire mares, plan matings, raise horses, sell the foals (or most of them anyway) and see if GreenMount could become a player.

As I wrote four paragraphs ago, mission accomplished.

Sabrina and Angie Moore sold Knicks Go as a weanling and sold Kosmo's Buddy too–go ahead and think those were mistakes, but there are no guarantees in this game and business is business–all the while proving they can raise quality horses, upgrade their broodmares and make an impact on the world's biggest racing stages.

They weren't alone at Del Mar. Four races earlier, Maryland-bred Aloha West stormed down the stretch to win the $2 million Qatar Racing Breeders' Cup Sprint-G1 by a nose. The 4-year-old, bred by Bob Manfuso and Katy Voss and raised at their Chanceland Farm in West Friendship, started 2021 as a maiden and picked a nice spot to win his first stakes.

Manfuso and Voss have been at this far longer than the Moores but the business model isn't all that different–breed horses, raise them right, sell most of them as youngsters and then watch the magic. Or hope to. Aloha West, a son of Kentucky stallion Hard Spun and Chanceland mare Island Bound, sold for $160,000 as a yearling at Keeneland September in 2018. The dark bay didn't run until this year, winning his debut for Gary and Mary West and trainer Wayne Catalano in February. Two races later, the colt was owned by Eclipse Thoroughbred Partners. He won an allowance at Churchill Downs, two more at Saratoga and finished second in the Stoll Keenon Ogden Phoenix Stakes-G2 at Keeneland and then broke through at Del Mar.

Voss watched from Maryland, proud of a horse she and her team raised and prepped. Like almost all Chanceland foals, Aloha West went to the Maryland Horse Breeders Association yearling show–and didn't get a ribbon in a class where Chanceland yearlings swept the first three placings. Manfuso, who died in March 2020, was at that show and talked up the yearlings, the people doing the work and the value of sending horses for a day "at community college" before taking them to a sale or putting them in a training barn.

A former Breeders' Cup board member, Manfuso would have surely been at Del Mar–in his Big Bad Bob hat maybe–and would have loved it.

The Breeders' Cup wins weren't Maryland's first (Knicks Go won the Dirt Mile in 2020 and the list is dotted with others such as Cigar, Concern, Safely Kept, Sharing and so on), but they mattered. Kentucky and Florida were the only other states–along with Great Britain, Ireland and Japan–represented among the 14 winners. Recent Jockey Club statistics show Maryland's foal crop on the rise, a rarity as the national crop continues to decline, and Breeders' Cup success can only help.

Keep it rolling.

Racing, breeding decision yields Classic win for Prendimi

By Joe Clancy

Joe Coles, racing fan, sat in the stands at Monmouth Park one afternoon in 1992 or so and turned to his friend Joe Zoppi. "If you ever get something that looks good," Coles told the veteran trainer, "maybe I'll buy a horse."

The first horse Zoppi came up with didn't pass a veterinary inspection, so he tried again. That horse passed and—even if it took two years to get her to the races—put Coles and Gail Shaw into racing as owners and now breeders. That horse, a New Jersey-bred filly named Signa, won twice for G. J. Stable and became a broodmare. Her offspring included stakes winner Cigno d'Oro, whose son Prendimi landed the $150,000 Maryland Million Classic at Laurel Park Oct. 23. Second in the 2019 race and seventh in 2020, Prendimi lived up to his name—"Catch me" in Italian—by taking the lead at the start and denying a stretch challenge from Tappin Cat. Prendimi, a 6-year-old gelding by Dance With Ravens, scored by a neck at 12-1. Tappin Cat, bet down to 3-5 while seeking his fourth consecutive victory, held second over The Poser by three-quarters of a length as the winner covered 1⅛ miles in 1:50.46.

Back home in Tinton Falls, N.J., recovering from a short bout with pneumonia, Coles cheered like he was there. He and Shaw (they've been "significant others" for 33 years) missed the winner's circle photo, but celebrated.

"I can tell you this, we were screaming in the house," said Coles. "I'm sorry we couldn't get down there because we love to watch him run. I came down with pneumonia three or four days before and I didn't want to take a chance of making it worse. They said it would clear up and it has, and we were thrilled with Prendimi."

The Classic provided a fitting highlight to Jim McKay Maryland Million Day, which showcased progeny of the state's stallions for the 36th time. Northview Stallion Station sires landed eight wins on the 12-race card, but otherwise the success spread among a variety of breeders, owners and trainers. The event also returned to a sense of normal after being run with limited spectators and social distancing due to the coronavirus pandemic in 2020. Other moments included a retirement ceremony honoring 2019 Distaff winner Anna's Bandit, a record-tying third Maryland Million win by Hello Beautiful and the usual hospitality tents filled with breeders, owners, trainers and sponsors.

Nobody was overshadowing Prendimi, however. From post two, the New Jersey-bred and jockey Mychel Sanchez jumped to the lead and carried Ain't Da Beer Cold, Torch of Truth and a four-wide Tappin Cat into the first turn. After a quarter-mile in :23.61, Prendimi led Torch of Truth by a half-length with Tappin Cat just off them in third. The margin shrunk to a neck after a half in :46.84. Prendimi accelerated early on the turn as Tappin Cat passed Torch of Truth. Sanchez got busy after 6 furlongs in 1:11.16 while Jevian Toledo let Tappin Cat range alongside. The favorite fought on, but never could get closer than a neck as Prendimi responded, leaped a tire track in the final yards, and hung on to win.

Prendimi won for the sixth time in 30 starts and snapped a seven-race losing streak while pushing his career earnings to $472,005. The dark bay won two stakes in 2019 and came up a half-length short of Forest Fire in the Maryland Million Classic that autumn. Last year, Prendimi won the Charles Hesse III Handicap in August, but faded to seventh behind Monday Morning Qb on Maryland Million Day.

Luis Carvajal Jr. called training Prendimi a challenge.

"I worked him a few days ago, on top of the race, and he went a half-mile in like :52 [officially :52.20 three days before the race]," the trainer said. "You can't make him go faster. When it's in the race, and he has the competition next to him, he looks at other horses and digs in."

The Monmouth-based Carvajal, trainer of Grade 1-winning sprinter Imperial Hint, was taken aback by the 1,240-pound mark his horse hit on Laurel's paddock scale but otherwise liked what he saw before the Classic.

"He was happier today, the body language of the horse was better," Carvajal said. "When I saw him getting a little sweat

New Jersey-bred Prendimi (right) holds off favorite Tappin Cat at the finish of the Maryland Million Classic.

. . . I said, 'That's a good sign.' It's very hard to understand this horse because of the way he trains and works in the morning. He works really slow. Once you see him on the track and he's happy, then you know you've got something."

Coles and Shaw had something when they bought Signa nearly 30 years ago. Unraced until age 4, the daughter of Roman Reasoning won her third start–and her 32nd–for Zoppi. As a broodmare, she produced five winners led by stakes winners Dabnabit and Cigno d'Oro. Carvajal galloped the latter, who won seven races and earned $372,604, for trainer Bob Durso and took over her training when Durso retired in 2006. Cigno d'Oro became a broodmare and, like her dam, threw winners–six from as many to race. Prendimi, foaled at Hunters Rest Farm in Neptune, leads the way.

Durso died in 2007, Zoppi in 2019. Coles said Cigno d'Oro has been retired from her broodmare career. But G. J. Stable continues. Prendimi will get a winter break with the Carvajal stable in Florida, and could soon be joined by siblings Cigno Bella (a 2-year-old Mission Impazible filly) and Trouble Coming (a 2021 colt by Madefromlucky).

"We bought one horse, Signa, and that was it," said Coles, a certified public accountant. "We bred everything else. I have to give a lot of credit to Cigno d'Oro. She puts a lot of heart into those horses. And Signa, the original, was like that too. That means a lot. We've been lucky that way."

Three Pointer

Make a little room Maryland Million heroes, Hello Beautiful needs a spot. The 4-year-old filly became the seventh horse to win three Maryland Million races when she ruled the $100,000 Distaff–leading throughout and dispatching five overmatched foes. She joined Ben's Cat, Countus In, Docent, Eighttofasttocatch, Mz. Zill Bear and Safely Kept on the honor roll.

There are no four-time Maryland Million winners, a feat that looks plausible for Hello Beautiful as long as she keeps racing–and stays this good.

"All the more reason to keep her training as a 5-year-old," said trainer Brittany Russell about making history. "If she keeps winning, I think they'd rather keep her racing. You know, you have a horse that's winning stakes, she can be a broodmare the next year. If she stubs her toe by the end of the year, maybe we make a different decision."

JERRY DZIERWINSKI

Now a three-time Maryland Million winner, Hello Beautiful makes it look easy—again—in the Distaff.

Bred in Maryland by Hillwood Stable and campaigned by a partnership of Madaket Stables, Albert Frassetto, Mark Parkinson, K-Mac Stable and Magic City Stables, Hello Beautiful appears in no danger of tripping over anything as she won for the 10th time in 18 starts and pushed her career earnings to $582,570.

Purchased by Russell for $6,500 as a yearling, the daughter of Golden Lad made easy work of the Distaff as an expected early challenge from Street Lute never materialized. Hello Beautiful was third after the first few strides as Malibu Beauty and Fille d'Esprit broke quickest. Toledo gave her plenty of rein, and she zipped past the leaders to take a 2-length lead after an opening quarter-mile in :22.59. Unchallenged, Hello Beautiful ran a half in :45.65 as Street Lute had to steady briefly along the rail and Malibu Beauty tried to keep up outside. Hello Beautiful kicked clear in the stretch and won by 3½ lengths with her jockey checking the infield video screen for challengers through 7 furlongs in 1:22.22. Malibu Beauty edged Street Lute by a nose for second. The race wasn't last year's 11¼-length romp, but didn't have to be.

"It's sort of the same thing it always is," said Russell. "There's speed in the race, she's the fastest horse. If they want to go with her, go with her. Try. It's not like she jumped out of there and had the lead from the jump. She ran a little faster that first part and they sat off of her."

And that was that. Out of the Tiznow mare Hello Now, Hello Beautiful won the Lassie as a 2-year-old and has won nine of 10 starts on the dirt at Laurel while piling up eight stakes victories. The only blank spot on her resume is a graded win, and that may never come. She tried it as a 3-year-old, and finished sixth in the Prioress-G2 at Saratoga, and again in February when fifth as the favorite in Laurel's Lasix-free Barbara Fritchie-G3.

"It's disappointing," Russell said. "She's the type of filly who has that ability to do it. You see her numbers and you see how she runs. Maybe that 3-year-old year wasn't the year to try it, she just didn't have luck with shipping and all those things."

After the Fritchie, her only start without Lasix, Hello Beautiful missed almost four months. Trying again crosses Russell's mind, but so does staying focused on her horse.

"The way it happened in the Fritchie, no," the trainer said of racing without Lasix again. "Maybe if she runs as a 5-year-old next year, knowing she'll be retired as a 6-year-old, I'm not saying it's completely out of the question but at this stage to keep her where she is, keep her healthy and do the right thing by her, it's to run her on Lasix."

And that's more than fine, especially when Russell considers how much she owes Hello Beautiful. Russell's horses raced 46 times in 2018, her first season as a trainer. With two months to go in 2021, she was approaching 250 starts and had already posted career highs in wins (59) and purse earnings ($2,516,329).

"I have a barn full of horses because of her and many clients because of her," Russell said. "It's a tough game and to have a filly like her who keeps you up there, keeps your confidence, she shows that you can do it. She makes you want to wake up in the morning and do it all over again, even on the bad days."

No Foul

In 2020, much to the delight of owner/breeder Vivian Rall, Epic Idea won the $100,000 Ladies–surviving a foul claim in the process–only to lose the race months later when the Maryland Racing Commission reversed the stewards' decision on an appeal by the connections of the runner-up.

No matter where you sit, it was a tough way to lose a race.

Epic Idea did her part to erase the sting with a repeat victory in the Ladies for Rall and trainer Michael Merryman. The 5-year-old daughter of Great Notion rallied from fourth early to catch Tipsy Chatter in the stretch and held off a late run from Maldives Model to win by a half-length in 1:49.46 for 1⅛ miles on the turf. Judi Blue Eyes finished third.

Nobody was happier than Rall, who missed the 2020 race because of the coronavirus pandemic and is responsible for most of Epic Idea's female family. In order, the pedigree (with foaling year) goes:

• Calliope (2008): Bred and owned by Rall; four-time winner by Outflanker.

• Pandora (1997): Bred and owned by Rall; two-time winner by Press Card.

• Snow Leopard (1983): Bred, owned and trained by Rall; three-time winner by Northern Raja.

• Aunt Sheila (1970): Owned, trained and sometimes ridden by Rall, though bred in Virginia by Dot Smithwick; six-time winner by *Mystic II and the dam of Maryland Hunt Cup winner Uncle Merlin.

Aunt Sheila was out of Cousin Yvonne, a 1963 daughter of Besomer bred in Virginia by Smithwick Stable, and also the dam of steeplechase stakes winner Uncle Edwin. Cousin Yvonne's dam *External Relations, a foal of 1947, raced over jumps for Mikey Smithwick and won the 1954 Noel Laing Stakes at Montpelier.

LYDIA A. WILLIAMS

Trainer Michael Merryman celebrates with jockey Daniel Centeno and groom Enrique Lopez after Epic Idea's win in the Maryland Million Ladies.

Rall thought of all that history and a lifelong relationship with trainers Holly Robinson and Ann Merryman (and now Ann's son Michael) while standing in the winner's circle.

"I wasn't here last year, I was screaming at the television," Rall said. "This is redemption for having it taken away. She can do it. She is that good. She proved it. The teamwork of Michael and Ann, that's the key, because she's not easy. Suzanne Stettinius gallops her a lot and she said she got run off with on Tuesday. When she's totally let down in the winter, she's OK. That's when I get her. A lot of the family, they're intense, which makes them good racehorses."

The victory was the 24th (and first in a stakes) for Michael Merryman, who knew how much it all meant to Rall.

"That's almost the best feeling about it," he said. "You know how she is with her horses. She loves them. She takes care of them. They're her babies. That's the kind of people we like training for because that's the way we are with horses."

Merryman started training in 2017, and joined his mother, aunts Lizzie Merryman and Katy Voss and uncle Edwin Merryman on the roster of Maryland Million-winning trainers. Epic Idea came into the race off five starts in turf sprints, topped by thirds at Colonial Downs in August and Laurel in September.

"The way she rated today, she's never showed that aspect before," said Michael. "My whole thing was trying to get her to come down, to take that breath. She's been sprinting very well, and very quickly. I know now, but I didn't know she could do that. She knows when it's game time. You've got to love horses like that. They step on the track, and they know what they're doing."

Playing in the Band

Right about the time Gordie Keys started to explain what it meant to win a Maryland Million race with a homebred, he stopped and said he couldn't quite put it into words.

Then he put it into words.

"I've waited a long time," said Keys, 88. "It's nice, it's nice. You never know when you're going to do it. I've been breeding a long time. It seems like this horse was an answer to a lot of prayers. I'm humbled. I never like being the favorite, because you never know. He still has to go do it. But he's a good horse. I bred so many horses, it's nice to finally succeed with one."

Grateful Bred, a 5-year-old Great Notion gelding out of the Malibu Moon mare Malibu Moment, started as the 1-2 favorite in the $75,000 Turf Sprint–and then made it look easy, taking the lead from post nine of 10 and setting every fraction. He won by 1½ lengths over Sky's Not Falling with Love You Much third after 1:02.29 for 5½ furlongs.

The win was Grateful Bred's third of 2021, joining a victory in the Meadow Stable Stakes at Colonial Downs and a Pimlico allowance after the dark bay won twice in 2020. Trainer Madison Meyers echoed the thoughts of Keys, when asked about the achievement.

"It means a lot," she said. "He's a Marylander and he's never won a race like this or had a horse like this. It means the world to him, and it means the world to me to be able to do it for him. He's been very loyal to us. Our racing stable is really small. Sometimes it would be easy for him to take him and give him to a big-name trainer, but he's been really nice and been very good to us."

Keys bought Grateful Bred's dam from breeder Thornmar Farm for $21,000 as a yearling in 2003. She managed to finish second three times before becoming a broodmare. Grateful Bred is her best and, according to his trainer, knows it.

"The horse is such a dude to be around. I love to train him, but he literally will tear the place down if you don't feed him first," said Meyers, who operates a breaking/training business with her husband Kieran Norris at Virginia's Middleburg Training Center. "He's got a window up high in his stall and if you come down the middle with the feed cart instead of going outside first and coming back in by him you can see feet up at the window. It scares me to death. The rule is you have to wheel the feed cart around, stop at his stall, feed him first and then go feed everybody else.

"He knows he's a good horse and he expects us to know he's good too. But he always tries. He lays it on the line every single time."

Shiny 2-year-olds

Northview stallion Buffum, who died in 2019, sired both 2-year-old winners as Buff My Boots won the $100,000 Lassie for fillies and Buff Hello took the $100,000 Nursery for colts and geldings. The victories showcased what might have been, and paid tribute to their sire.

Trainer John Salzman Jr. and owner Bird Mobberley teamed up to win the Lassie, as Buff My Boots continued to pay off on a $7,000 investment at Fasig-Tipton Midlantic's yearling sale. Bred by Hope Hill Farm from the Not For Love mare Shekeepsherbootson, the bay filly made the lead and made it last–barely–to score by a half-length over the hard-charging My Thoughts with Sparkle Sprinkle another half-length back in third. Mobberley paid tribute to her late parents, Gretchen and Jack of Howard County's Summer Hill Farm, after accepting the trophy with farm manager Grady Griffin.

"They were longtime Maryland horsemen and I know that they're smoking their cigarettes and drinking martinis," said Bird. "They would think, 'All right Bird, all right Bird and Grady. Ya'll did it.' They'd be proud."

Picked out by Salzman from the consignment of Bill Reightler, Buff My Boots won her debut at Pimlico in July, by 10¼ lengths, scored at Timonium in September and was third at Laurel Oct. 3.

"I just buy early horses, I like speed horses," Salzman said of his sales strategy. "I don't buy breeding, and her breeding is there. The Not For Love part, Buffum, she just jumped out at me that she'd win early. And I'm as happy for Bird as I'd be if it was my own horse. She really deserves it. They're great to train for, they let me do what I want and so far it's working out for us."

Five races later, Buff Hello came through over 13 others in the Nursery – fighting for the lead from the inside post for jockey Charlie Marquez and winning by 2 lengths over Coastal Mission with Local Motive third. Bred in Pennsylvania by Sergio Gomez from the Sharp Humor mare Spanish Dream, Buff Hello was purchased for $26,000 by owner Joe Besecker from Northview's Fasig-Tipton Midlantic consignment last year. Trained by Claudio Gonzalez, the bay colt won his third start, at Pimlico in July, and was sixth in Monmouth's Sapling Stakes in September.

"It was not an easy race, especially with the [post] position we had today," said Gonzalez. "The position is really hard, especially with [14] horses and a lot of horses that have speed. The good thing about Charlie is, he listens. He warmed up the horse really good, he broke and rushed up and took the lead and he did the right thing."

Presto, Photo Finish

Twenty years from now, the connections of Somekindofmagician will tell the story about how their horse won the 2021 Maryland Million Turf. He dominated, drew clear, won with plenty in reserve. They knew it early, and started walking to the winner's circle at the quarter pole.

Not a chance.

Somekindofmagician passed five horses in the stretch to erase a 4-length deficit and got up in the final stride to win the $100,000 Turf by a nose. He led for exactly one inch, the last inch. Owners Nick and Delora Beaver went along for the ride, the whole, stressful ride.

"I was shaking, just shaking," Nick said.

"We weren't right at the finish line, we were down a little farther," said Delora, "so we had to watch the screen to find out."

The screen only helped a little as Somekindofmagician, Johng and Street Copper pretty much hit the finish line as one horse – the margins two noses after 1⅛ miles in 1:49.

Trifor Gold set the pace and led into the stretch as Cannon's Roar, Street Copper, Somekindofmagician and Benny Havens launched into position. Cannon's Roar took the lead in mid-stretch, but had company. Street Copper surged along the rail. Somekindofmagician and Johng charged outside. They hit the wire together. Somehow, Angel Cruz stood up aboard

"I watched the finish and said, 'I'm not saying nothing,'" trainer Gary Contessa said with a laugh. Win or lose, Contessa credited his horse's grit in the final yards.

"He really had to fight and dig in," said the trainer. "What he's got is what we wish every horse had and that's heart and a desire to win. He's been absolutely outstanding this year."

Claimed by the Beavers' Bell Gable Stable from Larry Johnson and trainer Mike Trombetta for $25,000 in August 2019, Somekindofmagician lost all nine starts that year and posted a single win in 2020. Through October, his 2021 included four wins and a third from seven starts since moving to Contessa's care from trainer Jamie Ness.

Horse of all Trades

It's been a long year for Air Token, whose 2021 past-performance chart bounces around like a lacrosse ball—Laurel, Charles Town, Pimlico, Colonial Downs and back to Laurel at a mile, 7 furlongs, 5 furlongs, 1 1/16 miles, turf, 1 1/8 miles, mud, 6 furlongs.

And then the $100,000 Sprint, where the 4-year-old Golden Lad gelding pulled a mild upset for owner/trainer Jose Corrales. Air Token and J.D. Acosta found a spot behind speedy longshot Valued Notion early, collared that one in the stretch and kicked away to win by 2¼ lengths over late-running Double Crown in 1:09.63. Corrales claimed Air Token for $10,000 in August 2020 and has sent him out for six wins. Versatility is part of the success.

"He goes long, he runs on the grass, he's like people's dream horse, you dream to have a horse like that," Corrales said. "They don't come around very often. The people in the barn call him a pony. He is a very good pony. He is very relaxed. Everybody wants him when he is finished racing. Not yet. He is only 4 years old."

Bred in Maryland by Carol Kaye, Air Token sold for $3,500 as a yearling and has tried nearly every level of racing—from that $10,000 claiming tag to the 2021 Charles Town Classic-G2. Beaten 26¼ lengths by Art Collector there, Air Token rebounded to finish second at Laurel Sept. 23 as a prep for the Sprint.

"He's developed little by little," said Corrales. "He can go any distance, but we chose this. He's got enough speed, he can lay close and he doesn't need to be on the lead. In some of the other races, he is on the lead and that doesn't work that well."

NOTES: Four starter handicap stakes filled out the card. Mint Meadows Farm and Donald Metzger won the opener going 1⅛ miles on the turf with B Determined, who scored by a head as the favorite for trainer Suzanne Stettinius. Calypso Ghost prevailed in the second, for fillies and mares going 7 furlongs on the dirt. Rodolfo Sanchez-Salomon trained the winner (a daughter of Etched bred by Bonita Farm) for Abuelitas Racing Stables. All-time Maryland Million leader Not For Love collected another series win (his 37th) when No More Talk pulled a mild upset in a 7-furlong dirt starter. Bred by Bob Manfuso and Katy Voss, the winner made his fifth Maryland Million start. The day's finale, a turf starter for fillies/mares, went to owner/breeder Mill Hill Stable's Millie Child (a daughter of Freedom Child) and trainer Anthony Aguirre . . . Doubles by active sires Great Notion and Golden Lad led the Northview success, which also included two wins from Buffum (who died in 2019) and singles from Not For Love (2016) and Dance With Ravens (who now stands in Saudi Arabia).

Runco, Bocachica dominate West Virginia's big night

By Paul Halloran. Photographs By Coady Photography

Let's play West Virginia Breeders Classics Jeopardy, 2021 edition.

Jose Montano.

Who was the only jockey other than Arnaldo Bocachica to win a race?

Crystal Pickett and Ollie Figgins III.

Who were the only trainers other than Jeff Runco to saddle a winner?

What were the combined earnings of horses trained by Runco and ridden by Bocachica?

You get the picture. On a night when the focus is squarely on West Virginia breeders, owners, trainers and jockeys, Bocachica and Runco didn't leave much room for others in the spotlight, combining for seven wins on the nine-race card. Bocachica added an eighth victory, riding for Figgins.

"No one expects to do that," said Runco, in line to win his 16th consecutive training title at Charles Town. "You go into it trying to have all the horses ready and hope everything goes well. This year, everything went well."

Thank you for that lesson in understatement, Mr. Runco.

For his part, Bocachica knew he was in position to have a successful night, but would never dare to dream of winning eight on the card.

"I was hoping to win two or three, and if I have a very good night, maybe four," he said. "I still can't believe it."

The dynamic duo wasted no time in laying the foundation for the monster night, winning the Vincent Moscarelli Memorial Stakes to open the Oct. 9 card with Run to Daylight, a Runhappy gelding bred by Jim Miller and owned by David Raim, who had five winners on the card. Sent off at 3-5, Run to Daylight, out of the Stormy Atlantic mare Daylight's Coming, came from fifth in the six-horse field and won by 2¼ lengths.

Miller sold the horse for $115,000 as a yearling at Keeneland in January 2020, and eight months later Raim bought him for $60,000 at Keeneland September. Miller bred the dam, and sold her as a yearling for $50,000. He subsequently bought her back near the end of her 12-race career. He has bred her since 2016, including the 2018 mating with Runhappy that produced Run to Daylight.

"Jeff and David made one heckuva buy in September [2020]," Miller said.

Runco was pleased to get a win on the books.

"Everybody's focused on that night for quite some time," Runco said. "When we won the first, it was, so far, so good, now let's keep it going."

While Runco sent out a series of heavy favorites – six were odds-on – there was a price to be had in the Triple Crown Nutrition Stakes, won by 9-1 The Sky Is Falling, a talented 2-year-old filly owned by Raim and bred by Cathy Jennings and Scott Mallory. It may have been the most satisfying win for Runco, who put blinkers on the daughter of Cupid after she ran a dull fifth in the Rachel's Turn Stakes Sept. 18.

"We had two with first-time blinkers that night and both won," Runco said. "We really liked her."

It was a meaningful win for Jennings, who co-bred The Sky Is Falling's dam Miss Henny Penny, whom she obtained when she bought Storm Hen in foal to Half Ours in 2009. They sold Miss Henny Penny for $62,000 as a yearling in 2010, but bought her back after she completed her career, which included a third in the 2012 West Virginia Division of Tourism Stakes.

"It was pretty special," said Jennings, who left a dog show in Allentown, Pa., where she and her husband, Tim, were showing their Norwich Terrier, to travel to Charles Town to watch. "It was surreal," she said. "We watched the races and drove back to the dog show."

The 1½-length win by The Sky Is Falling turned out to be the first of two for Jennings and Mallory, who also bred Door Buster, a Jay Reese-owned filly sent out by Figgins to capture the West Virginia Tourism Office Stakes with Bocachica aboard.

"We knew we still had Door Buster," Jennings said of the half-sister to The Sky Is Falling. "She's been so consistent (11-5-2-2).

The five winners for owner David Raim, trainer Jeff Runco and jockey Arnaldo Bocachica on West Virginia Breeders Classics night (clockwise from top left): Muad'dib in the Classic, Penguin Power in the Onion Juice, The Sky Is Falling in the Triple Crown Nutrition, Run to Daylight in the Vincent Moscarelli, and Stowe Angel in the Distaff.

Door Buster, one of two winners on the night bred by Catherine Jennings and Scott Mallory out of their mare Miss Henny Penny, storms home in the West Virginia Tourism Office for trainer Ollie Figgins III.

Hypothesis gives trainer Crystal Pickett her third consecutive win in the Dash for Cash (after Dr. Feelgood's scores in 2019 and 2020). Jose Montano, the only jockey to win that night not named Arnaldo Bocachica, was aboard.

She has a bull's-eye on her back. She gets trapped in on the rail and always finds a way to get out. She's got such a turn of foot, that when she gets out she's gone."

"I felt really good about her going into the race," said Figgins, who operates out of the Middleburg Training Center in Virginia. "I was happy to see her win."

Door Buster, by Speightster, was a $25,000 purchase at the 2019 Fasig-Tipton Midlantic fall yearling sale.

"You hope they're good enough when you map out a plan to run in these stakes," Figgins said. "To be successful is the cherry on top."

"It was an unbelievable night," said Jennings, who has a farm in Summit Point, W.Va. "They just don't come along too often."

In the case of Jennings, that equates to every 10 years, as her previous West Virginia Breeders Classics wins came in 2010 and 2011 with Princess Cecilia.

"I didn't realize how hard it was until I had to wait 10 years to win another one," said Jennings, greeted with widespread congratulations upon returning to the dog show. "This was a dream come true to win with horses out of a mare I bred and raised."

Door Buster was a pick-up mount for Bocachica, filling in for the injured Denis Araujo, who had ridden her in her previous six races. It was the only race on the card he did not ride for Runco.

The only race on the card neither Runco nor Bocachica won was the Dash for Cash, with Jose Montano riding Hypothesis to victory for Pickett and owner Jill Daniel, whose son, Francis Daniel III, bred the Algorithms gelding. Hypothesis is a Breeders Classics veteran, as he won the Vincent Moscarelli in 2019 and was second in the West Virginia Lottery last year.

"It was a rarity that night," said Pickett, of beating Runco and Bocachica, who finished fourth with Aaron's Tap. "I trained and galloped the mother [Ideal Thoughts], so he's like part of the family. I love him. He's a lot of fun."

It was an emotional win for Pickett, who had won the Dash for Cash the last two years with Dr. Feelgood, a gelding who won 13 of 15 starts before suffering a fatal injury while training at Laurel last November.

"There's no better way I could honor what a great racehorse he was than to win the race for him," she said. "Hypothesis has won all the stakes this year that [Dr. Feelgood] won last year. He has a huge heart and he loves to win."

As the card progressed, there was no reason to think the Runco-Bocachica train would be derailed, so it came as no surprise that they captured the two most lucrative races, the $300,000 West Virginia Breeders Classic with the undefeated Muad'dib and the $175,000 Cavada with 5-time stakes winner Star of Night.

Bred by John McKee, Muad'dib, by Fiber Sonde out of the Indian Charlie mare Holy Pow Wow, was sent off at 4-5 in the Classic and had little trouble in registering his eighth win in as many starts for Raim while increasing his career earnings to $287,411.

"The only question was could he make the distance [1⅛ miles]," Bocachica said of Muad'dib, who had never run beyond 7 furlongs. "But he's such a big horse with a nice stride, I was confident he would do it. He's going to be hard to beat in West Virginia."

Bocachica, who will win his fifth Charles Town riding title this year, was convinced Muad'dib is a serious racehorse after his previous start, the Frank Gall Memorial, when Muad'dib was stuck outside and had to close on a speed-favoring track and still managed to win, albeit by a neck.

"He had everything going against him and he still won," the jockey said.

What else can you say about Star of Night, a 4-year-old filly by Creative Cause, out of the Malibu Moon mare Splendiferous Moon. Sent off as the 1-9 favorite in the Cavada, the Huntertown Farm/Heinz and Eric Steinmann homebred closed from sixth after a quarter-mile to win the 7-furlong race by three-quarters of a length. Star of Night has 10 wins and two seconds in 12 starts and earned $319,781.

"She brings it every time," Runco said. "She loves to train and she loves to run."

Oh, what a night

Owner Raim enjoys five-timer at Charles Town

BY PAUL HALLORAN

If you own horses long enough, you will likely experience the lowest of lows and the highest of highs. Who knows? You may even win five races in one night.

It took 18 years, but that's what happened to David Raim on West Virginia Breeders Classics Night at Charles Town Oct. 9.

"It still brings a smile to my face," Raim said three weeks later. "You kind of pinch yourself. It's certainly not anything I was expecting or even thinking was a possibility."

Raim's dominance of the nine-race race card was symmetrical, with his horses winning the first two, last two and the sixth. All were trained by Jeff Runco and ridden by Arnaldo Bocachica. Their combined earnings were $272,700, representing more than a third of Raim's earnings for the year as of the first week in November.

"I thought my horses were pretty good," Raim said. "Jeff is a great trainer and Arnaldo is a great rider. But I wasn't thinking about going 5-for-5."

After he won the Vincent Moscarelli Memorial Stakes with Run to Daylight, Raim scored with The Sky Is Falling in the Triple Crown Nutrition Stakes. After the Cupid filly sold for $40,000 as a yearling at the 2020 Keeneland January sale, Raim told Runco he would have paid more than that and asked him to try to negotiate a private sale with the agent for California-based owner Pat Maciariello. Runco made the deal and Raim had himself a future stakes winner.

"She's a nicely bred West Virginia horse," Raim said of the daughter of Miss Henny Penny. "She broke her maiden nicely and didn't do well in the 4½-furlong [Rachel's Turn] stakes. Jeff was very confident she was going to do better going longer and that blinkers would make a big difference. He was spot on."

The Sky Is Falling returned to win the Eleanor Casey Memorial Stakes Oct. 30, improving her career record to three wins in four starts.

Raim's Penguin Power went gate to wire in the West Virginia Thoroughbred Breeders Association "Onion Juice" Stakes. The 6-year-old Fiber Sonde gelding, bred by John McKee, had to deal with the far outside post, but he used his speed to clear the 10-horse field. It was the 14th win in 22 starts for Penguin Power, who went over the $350,000 mark in earnings.

It was already a night to remember for Raim when the West Virginia Breeders Classic rolled around, but it had only just begun, as he had undefeated 4-year-old gelding Muad'dib in the $300,000 stakes. Muad'dib stalked leader Hero's Man for 6 furlongs, took over by the top of the stretch and cruised to an easy win and the $135,000 winner's share.

"That was the race I was really hoping to win," Raim said. "I had never had a horse hit the board in that race."

By Fiber Sonde out of the Indian Charlie mare Holy Pow Wow, Muad'dib is named for the lead character in the science fiction book Dune, which was made into a movie this year. He extended his perfect streak to nine with a win in Charles Town's A Huevo Stakes Nov. 6.

The exclamation point was added by Stowe Angel in the Roger Ramey Distaff, the last race of the evening. A Warrior's Reward filly out of Lido Lady, she is named for the town in Vermont where Raim and his wife, Leslie Shedlin, spend their summers, while living in Bethesda, Md., the rest of the year.

"We weren't sure if we were going to run in the race," Raim said. "She had not been having a great year—one win in six starts—but she was training great and Jeff said we should run. That was the icing on the cake."

Stowe Angel delivered the most convincing victory of the night, winning by 6¾ lengths as the even-money favorite.

A retired lawyer who works as a commercial arbitrator, Raim grew up in New York City and took the subway to Aqueduct and Belmont with his father. He caught the racing bug and the rest is history. He was working on a case in which an accountant for Mid-Atlantic owner Larry Johnson was an expert witness. Raim asked if he could buy into one of Johnson's horses. He named him Murray's Mazal—for his father and the Yiddish word for good luck.

David Raim receives one of five trophies from WVBC's Carol Holden on Breeders Classics night.

Raim bought a few horses on his own and sent them to Graham Motion, but was not having much success on the Maryland circuit. Motion suggested he move the horses to Runco at Charles Town and Raim was all for it.

"I thought it was a great idea," he said. "It wasn't a vanity project for me. I didn't have unlimited funds and I couldn't keep losing money. The horses went to Jeff and he and I hit it off. I have never used another trainer."

Almost two decades later, he and Runco combined to win one for the thumb on the biggest night of the year for West Virginia breeders and owners.

"When we won the first race, it became a good night," Raim said. "Everything else was gravy. It just kept building. It was crazy."

When it was over and all the horses were safely back in the barn, Raim and his wife went back to Runco's farm to celebrate with Jeff and his wife, Susan, along with Heinz Steinmann (plus his wife Michelle and sister-in-law Dolores) of Huntertown Farm, who won the Cavada with Star of Night. They sat on the porch as some yearlings roamed the fields.

It was the perfect ending to a day that David Raim may never duplicate, and will absolutely never forget. ✹

The trainer and jockey have been formidable since joining forces in 2016—10 years after Bocachica came to the United States from Puerto Rico—but they took their success to a new level Oct. 9.

"Arnaldo is having a tremendous year. "I love working with him," Runco said. "He works hard every day and does his due diligence. He knows what I want."

And he obviously delivers. ✹

A Winning Tour

Meet Runco's seven Breeders Classics stars

How's that saying go? "He had a good year one night." Jeff Runco did exactly that on West Virginia Breeders Classics night at Charles Town Oct. 9, winning seven stakes. A winner of more than 4,500 races, Runco's form line that night went like this: 1231415131451314. Arnaldo Bocachica guided all the winners.

Mid Atlantic Thoroughbred's Sean Clancy walked Runco's stable to meet the team on a brisk Wednesday night, three and a half weeks after the banner night. Runco was still riding high.

The Sky Is Falling

David Raim's 2-year-old daughter of Cupid leaned over her webbing, her big blaze stained with sweet feed. Runco added blinkers for the Triple Crown Nutrition, the second win on the night.

"She had that one bad race going four-and-a-half [furlongs] when she hit the rail. This race here, she hit the rail, she had the one hole and got clobbered leaving there. She's a nice little filly. She's been doing great. She's a sweetheart, does everything right, just a pleasure to be around, they're all good-natured horses. She's going to get another race or two and then she'll get a break until late winter, early spring, let her put a little weight on, grow up a little bit for her 3-year-old season. Blinkers made a big difference, a huge factor. I've put blinkers on horses and you can't really tell anything, maybe they helped a little. They helped her a lot, she worked lights out with the blinkers. And getting her stretched back out. She came back and won the stake Saturday night [the Eleanor Casey Memorial Oct. 30]. She's pretty good. I bought her half-brother at Timonium for $82,000. She's won two since we bought him. I liked her, she paid 20 bucks, but I told the owner all week, that this one was going to run good. She had zero chance in her previous race. She ran great, just like I thought she would."

Run to Daylight

Around the corner from The Sky is Falling, the 2-year-old son of Runhappy lives in the first stall next to the office, always a good sign. The bay gelding improved to 3-for-3 in the Vincent Moscarelli Memorial, leading a 1-2-3 finish for Runco. Owned by Raim, the $60,000 yearling purchase met his trainer at the stall door like he had made an appointment.

"You can see why I bought him. He's only 2. He's a big, strong, powerful colt. A beautiful horse. He hasn't done a thing wrong yet. We'll see. He's good. They're both pretty good, we're going to find out who the best of the bunch is before too long. He overcame something I wasn't sure he was going to, when he got off bad, you never know if they're going to stretch out the way you want, he proved himself that night, getting off bad and coming off the pace and won pretty nicely. We are going to run him at Laurel in the Jim Lewis [Nov. 13], his numbers are good, you know your numbers are good when the guys from Maryland call you to ride him. He's a nice, big, strong colt."

Penguin Power

The old-timer of the group, the 6-year-old snapped a four-race losing streak by leading every step in the Onion Juice. Also owned by Raim, the son of Fiber Sonde fidgeted around his stall as Runco turned on the light.

"He's a tough guy, old, hard-knocking, reliable horse, just brings it. We took him to Maryland, he ran great, got a 94 Beyer, ran him back a little too quick and that kind of hurt him. We gave him a little time and he got cellulitis in his back leg, he wasn't quite right. He's just now doing really good. He turned the corner at the right time and we had him ready for Breeders Classic. He's won it three years in a row. Fast horse. A really nice horse. He's 6, he should have another good year left in him, some horses are still pretty good at 7, after 7, they get a little age on them. He seems to be back to his old self, I was happy how he was going into the Breeders Classic. We've had a lot of horses like him. North Atlantic, we just retired him [after finishing third in the Classic], he was a horse who brought it all the time, his record was phenomenal, he was 1-2-3 in 49 out of 55 starts. That's crazy. I love that horse, I was so glad to take him home."

Muad'dib

He has you at hello. The 4-year-old son of Fiber Sonde snorted as Runco walked up to his stall and instantly rested his long gray head on a reporter's chest. The lanky, placid gelding improved to 8-for-8 in the West Virginia Breeders Classic. Runco pointed to a bump at the top of his croup. You could hang a coat on it.

"Here's the big guy. The champion. How about that guy? See him behind? That's how every one of the siblings look. They all have that. The mare looked exactly like that. It's hard to keep weight on them. He does enough to get it done every time. When you go from this [restricted company] to that [open company], you find out what you've got. He doesn't want to lose. He's a big old Baby Huey. We bought him privately. I go to all the farms every fall, every spring. We're buying weanlings now, we're buying yearlings now. When they led him out of the barn, I said, 'I'll take him.'

"It doesn't take long to look at a good horse. You don't have to look at them long to see if you like them. I've got his yearling full-brother getting ready to go to South Carolina to be broke.

"He's just a gentle giant. He had a little crack in his sesamoid, we just gave him plenty of time and did all the right things with it. You never know how they'll come back from that. We wanted to give him plenty of time, but it was worth it. David has had some really nice horses. Bullets Fever retired undefeated, he won eight in a row. This horse is eight in a row and going for nine in a row Saturday night [he won the A Huevo Nov. 6].

"You never know when something's going to happen, like that night, numerous things can happen to get you beat, stopped, blocked, off bad, whatever . . . when everything went right, it took us a few of days to take it all in, like, 'Did that really happen?' We've had some good nights but nothing like that. We've had a really powerful year, we had some older horses coming back and the 2-year-olds stepped up. Whenever a horse is undefeated, you feel a little pressure. You hope they continue to do it. They're all a little different but Muad'dib and Star of Night, they're two horses who bring it every time so you're hoping they continue to do it. You've got 2-year-olds who you're hoping are going to be the next wave of good horses, they're all a little bit different."

Stowe Angel

The tall daughter of Warrior's Reward won the Roger Ramey Distaff to finish off Runco's night. Owned by Raim, the 4-year-old filly improved with blinkers to win her seventh start.

"She's good. She ran great that night, stretching out and blinkers. She probably ran as good as anybody, the way she did it, she won going away by 6¾ lengths. She's going to run in the My Sister Pearl [Nov. 13] against Star of Night. She had a lights-out work for her. She's just getting at it, she's got a little bit of a spotty record but stretching out and blinkers is going to be the ticket for her. I hadn't done it, she had done so well without them but after this race, I said, 'David, I want to put some blinkers on her.' David doesn't say much, he said, 'Great.' Boca worked her, he loved the way she worked. We were very optimistic. After the last one, I was looking at my wife [Susan], crazy.

"We were so busy, we had 16 horses in, everybody was here, we were preparing for weeks and weeks and weeks, getting the horses ready. We had different workouts for different horses, different distances, different days. I wrote everything on paper weeks out, what days they were going to work and so forth. When we got to the day, the logistics, we needed extra help. It was a busy night. We didn't really take it all in for a day. We checked the horses the next day and sat back and took it all and said, 'That was a crazy night.' You've got people from all around the country texting you, it's neat. It was a great night. Crazy, crazy night."

Star of Night

Huntertown Farm's homebred looked out over her hay net from Stall Nine. The daughter of Creative Cause won her eighth in a row when nailing 22-1 shot Privately in the Cavada. Sent off favorite in each of her 12 starts, she's won 10 and finished second twice.

"This is the champion. This is the champion Horse of the Year, boys, girls, everything. What can you say about her? She's good, she's ready to go. We'll see what we do with her. She got left first time out, stone left, I was sick about it because we liked her a lot. She just shows up every time. She had to get a tooth removed over the winter, that's why she had time off. It was just starting to bother her before the stake last year, but we got her through it. You can see where they took it out. She's doing great now. She had a little abscess; it was going to continue to bother her. She's a nice, big filly. She's tough, she wants to get it done. She grinds it out."

Social Chic

The only one missing on the tour, the son of Upstart went home to the farm, 2 miles from the track, after winning the West Virginia Lottery. Owned by Smart Angle, the 3-year-old won for the sixth time in 11 starts.

"He's at the farm. We'll give him a little time, there wasn't anything else for him. He's a 3-year-old who ran some big numbers. He ran a big number the night he won. I think he can step up to the 3-and-up next year. Hopefully he's another horse who can fill the shoes of some of the horses who have gotten older. He's got some conditions left, I wanted to save something for the spring where he can get started before they start writing stakes. He's good. We bought him privately from Jim Miller, he RNA'd at Timonium." ✹

Pino passes 7,000-win milestone, retires

BY SEAN CLANCY

COADY PHOTOGRAPHY (2)

Hallandale, Florida in February is a long way from Erie, Pennsylvania in October. Nobody knew this better than Mario Pino as he sought his final peak in a lifetime of mountains.

"I know 39 doesn't sound like a lot but 39 on my schedule is a lot," Pino said in February. The veteran jockey had just put the key in the ignition of a storied riding career, one more time, on a quest to reach 7,000 wins. He was 39 wins from becoming the 10th jockey to reach the milestone. His winter sabbatical was over, Presque Isle Downs' opening day loomed in a few months.

"Do I stop? Do I go on? My life is that fine line right now," Pino said. "But it's just like riding a bike, I get over there, I might not have been on a horse for five months, throw me up and go, it's natural. It makes me who I am, when I'm getting on horses."

Slowly and methodically, Pino got on horses and notched winners, from a 0-for-21 start in 1977-78 to 275 wins in 1979 to becoming a mainstay in Maryland to passing the last pillar along the way–Hall of Famer Jorge Velasquez–to crack the top 10. But that wasn't the number. The number was 7,000. Surely, someone, someday, will catch Pino. Nobody wants to be 11th, 12th, 13th all-time. But, 7,000, that gets etched in rock.

And that was his quest from Florida in February to Erie in October.

Idle (by design) with no rides between October 2020 and April 2021, Pino won two races while tuning up at Gulfstream Park this spring before returning to Presque Isle in July, where he vowed he would reach the milestone, and went to work. Like Pino's career, this year's wins came methodically and consistently–and slowly–as closing day descended. The thought of waiting another year or having to move to another track and try to eke out a win or two crept into the storyline.

Never one to move too soon, Pino guided Enjoy the Music to win the fourth race (a $6,250 claimer) at Presque Isle Oct. 20–the second-to-last day of the meet at the Erie track–to reach 7,000 wins in a long, meandering career as a jockey. Pino, 60, toyed with retiring on the spot, but consummate professionals honor their calls. He rode three more races that night, and came back to ride eight–with a win, to get to 7,001–on a cold, wet closing night. That was it. Job done. Mission complete.

"I didn't know I could do it. I came up here and I did fairly well and I think I rode really well. It wasn't actually as hard as I thought. I wanted to do it here, I needed five wins and there were only four racing days left. In horse racing, you could never predict when you're going to win. I was very lucky and blessed how it worked out," Pino said the morning after win 7,000. "It was a great feeling when I hit that finish line, it was a great relief. I have no regrets. People ask me if I'm going to miss it, sure, I'm going to miss it but I'm proud of what I've done. I'm not going to look back."

Winner of the George Woolf Award, the Mike Venezia Award, member of the Maryland State Athletic Hall of Fame, $131 million in earnings, the 10th jockey to win 7,000 and walking away on his own terms–yeah, those are proud accomplishments.

Pino won plenty of graded stakes and major races–and finished second in the 2007 Kentucky Derby-G1 and Breeders' Cup Classic-G1 aboard Hard Spun–but he was a Mid-Atlantic stalwart. His first win came at Bowie in 1979. He rode more than 1,100 races for 25 consecutive seasons–1979-2003. He topped 200 wins 11 times. He spanned eras, somehow riding alongside Ronnie Franklin and Gregg McCarron, Edgar Prado and Ramon Dominguez, Trevor McCarthy and Sheldon Russell.

"I'm going to walk away, it's time for me. I'll miss the horses. I love getting on the horses, feeling them responding to me, and the competing. I'm going to miss the everyday, I've been going to the jocks' room almost all my life, the friends I've met, everybody. I never thought I would do any of this. I thought I would ride three or four years and quit," Pino said. "I'm not light, I've been watching my weight for 40 years. Now that it's come to an end, I don't have to get up and think about anything, I'm fine now, I'm happy. I'm happy I don't have to go get another job, I'm blessed there."

And, why? Why did Pino make it?

"A passion for it. Work ethic, good attitude, just showing up, even when sometimes I was tired or sick, I still went and rode and that's not easy sometimes," Pino said. "I just kept going. I worked hard. It was a job for me from day one that I loved and I was blessed to be a jockey. It was a perfect job for me."

Maryland-bred crowned 2021 Thoroughbred Makeover champion

BY SARA GORDON. PHOTOS BY CANTERCLIX

When Richard Verrilli, of Millbrook, N.Y., passed away at 87 last December, his wife Donna knew the best way to honor him would be to fulfill one of the dreams he never had the chance to achieve: training a horse to win the field hunter division of the Retired Racehorse Project's Thoroughbred Makeover.

An accomplished equestrian with a passion for the sport and culture of foxhunting, Verrilli celebrated his 53rd opening meet this past October as a member of the Millbrook Hunt, where he served as a master for 15 years.

"The day he died, his wife came to me and said, 'Go get a horse, let's do this Makeover,'" said Laura Sloan, who has worked and ridden for the Verrillis since 2017.

A foxhunting trainer for more than 40 years, Sloan judged the field hunter discipline at the 2016 Makeover, where she had been impressed with the entire concept of the competition. Using her judging and training experience, she began the search for the ideal Makeover candidate. After a few prospects failed to pan out, Sloan resorted to creating a post on her Facebook profile, where she listed exactly what she was looking for: over 5 years old, at least 16 hands and quiet.

A call from Virginia-based trainer Catherine Stimpson, a foxhunting friend who retrains and resells off-the-track Thoroughbreds, ended the search when she introduced (via cellphone video) Forthegreatergood, a striking gray who made his final start last June. Stimpson vouched for his quiet temperament, a veterinarian confirmed a clean bill of health, and soon Sloan was on her way from Verrilli's winter base in Southern Pines, N.C., to pick up their newest trainee.

A Strong Foundation

When looking at Maryland-bred Forthegreatergood's race record, it's fair to say he wasn't the most successful racehorse. Bred, owned and trained by Donna Lockard, the now 6-year-old son of Scipion hit the board five times in 22 starts, all at the claiming level, while earning $46,734. But in Lockard's barn, a horse's worth isn't based on statistics.

"We treat all of our horses [the same]," she said. "They're all spoiled, they're all pets, which is really not how you're supposed to do it, but I don't really care."

The 60-year-old multiple stakes-winning trainer who has worked in the industry for more than 40 years is also a breeder and owner. She owned and trained Forthegreatergood's dam No Peeking, a daughter of Langfuhr, for a season before retiring her in 2012. The mare came home to Lockard's farm in Woodbine, Md., that she owns with her husband, Dr. Adam Lockard.

"She was not really a great racehorse but she had a nice pedigree, so we took her home to try to make her into an event horse because that's what we do, we make them into something else if we can," said Lockard. "Well, that wasn't working out because she wasn't very nice to ride, so we said let's breed her and we got [Sofatude], which was the first foal out of her in 2014, and then we bred Walter."

Forthegreatergood was known at home and at the track as "Walter," both names inspired by the television show Scorpion. He made his first start as a 2-year-old in October 2017 and eventually broke his maiden the following year, in his 10th start, a 5½-furlong maiden claimer at Laurel Park. The gelding made a few more starts in 2018, raced eight times in 2019 and once in 2020 before retiring.

But after a few months at home, where Lockard took him out on the trail a handful of times, she realized that though she loved Walter, he was meant to do something more.

"He's too nice of a horse for me to just fool around [with] on the farm and take trail riding," Lockard told her husband.

She sent Forthegreatergood to Stimpson with pretty simple instructions.

"You need to find this horse a good home," Lockard said. "It has to be an RRP home and it has to be a forever home."

Road to the Makeover

Forthegreatergood arrived and settled into his new home at Verrilli's farm in January and earned himself a new nickname, "Dom," inspired by his coat that appeared to be made of bubbles, like those at the top of a bottle of Dom Perignon.

Though training him to be a field hunter was the ultimate goal, Sloan believes hunt horses should be exposed to a variety of training exercises and experiences to ensure they're molded into well-rounded riding horses.

She started out focusing on his flat work, while slowly exposing him to more during trail rides and trips on the trailer. They added in jumping and started venturing to different clinics, while letting him process everything at a slow and steady pace. Her efforts, combined with Dom's willingness and excitement to learn, paid off in dividends.

Maryland-bred Forthegreatergood, with Laura Sloan aboard, shows off the form that won him the 2021 Thoroughbred Makeover championship.

"I just believe you go slow to go fast, so we did all kinds of outings. He went to Pony Club camp, he went to hunter shows, jumper shows, combined tests and [other] events," said Sloan. "Whether it's herding cows or jumping cross country, he's like, 'OK, let's just go do it.' It's a really nice attitude to have. He's just a very good partner."

With experience judging at the Makeover on her side, Sloan knew what would be expected, so she worked on necessary elements such as Dom's ability to ride out with a group in an open field, with other young ex-racehorses and hounds, along with riding in an indoor arena and being exposed to cheering fans.

The only thing she didn't do was hunt him, because the season opened just a month before the Makeover and she wanted to avoid having Dom associate hounds with a hyped-up sense of excitement to go hunting, which could potentially derail his focus in the competition.

"We went hound walking, I took him on a cattle drive, I mean anything I could do to expose him to different things," said Sloan. "I had tried to prepare him for everything I could and he was really so good in so many ways."

Showtime

After last year's Makeover was cancelled due to the Covid-19 pandemic, the Retired Racehorse Project returned with this year's "Mega Makeover," hosting 2020 and 2021 trainers and their entries in coinciding competitions. Four-hundred horses competed at the Thoroughbred Makeover and National Symposium, at the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington Oct. 12-17.

Along with the field hunter discipline, Sloan entered Dom in showjumping, where they completed a flat pattern and competed over two rounds of courses, before ultimately finishing 16th out of 61.

But Dom truly shined in the field hunter discipline. On the first day of preliminary competition out in the field, Dom and Sloan worked their way through the under-saddle portion before completing an individual test that included several fences, with the option to trot or canter, opening a gate, and galloping away from the group and halting. By the end of the day, they were in the lead, and continued the success as they rode in the mock hunt on the second day.

The group of competitors followed a field master and hounds over fair hunting country, with horses switching from the front of the pack to the back as they exemplified their obedience and control while going over jumps and interacting with other obstacles. After finishing as the highest-scoring pair out of nine, the Maryland-bred and his trainer were ready for the finale, an individual test in the main indoor arena with an audience.

"I was pretty confident. I knew he was very comfortable in the indoor and I also knew that all the other judges from the other disciplines would be watching, because this would be going for the overall finale, so I figured we've got to do something to impress them because this was our chance," Sloan said. "So I went in and as soon as they said we could go, I stopped and I swung my whip around and cracked it several times and he stood like a rock. Then during the course, you have to stop

Maryland-bred Legend's Hope, trained and ridden by Jazz Napravnik, leaps a fence en route to the 2020 eventing championship. Napravnik also took Pennsylvania-bred millionaire Page McKenney (right) to a third in the 2020 field hunter division and drop a rail and then also trot a little fence, and then you have to gallop and halt and he did everything pretty well, I was pretty pleased. I kind of wanted to show him off because I knew he'd stand like a rock cracking the whip. He was completely confident in there and just was like, 'OK, let's do it.' "

The performance set them apart from the rest, and Forthegreatergood won the 2021 field hunter discipline and was crowned the 2021 Thoroughbred Makeover champion. Along with the champion ribbon and custom sheet, the Makeover staff presented Sloan with a check for $10,000, and Forthegreatergood earned the 2021 top Maryland-bred award.

Verrilli and her daughter cheered as Forthegreatergood and Sloan took a victory lap.

"[Donna] has been absolutely phenomenal. She has been so enthusiastic and so gung-ho," said Sloan. "This is basically for her husband, and also for her, [unfortunately] she doesn't ride anymore but she used to ride, so she and her daughter were there and they were beyond ecstatic. I was just really proud of the horse."

It's hard to imagine what to aim for next after winning the Makeover on your first try, but Sloan plans to bring another horse, possibly trying a new discipline. Until then, she'll continue to bring Dom along as a foxhunter while mixing in shows and combined tests with anything else she can find.

"His little dance card was so full and it still is," said Sloan. "He trots to the trailer and every day, he's like, 'What are we doing now? What's on the agenda today?' There's a lot of variety, whether he's in a dressage lesson, on a cross-country school or on a trail ride, and he's happy to do it.

"Donna is 86, so I think we're just going to keep him and she'll let me do whatever I want to do with him, which is really fun. We'll just keep rolling. He's 6, so he's got a great future ahead of him and he's just getting better and better all the time."

Though Lockard misses him, she knows she made the right decision with her homebred gelding, and hopes events like the Makeover continue to teach people the importance of aftercare, realizing that "horses can go and do something else."

"He was the coolest horse on the planet and you know, he did everything right at the racetrack too. He did his job, he just had average talent," said Lockard. "I'm glad I realized that even though I could ride him, he needed to go and be special. He needed to go be somebody's special horse.

"I'm just so proud. I mean I wish he was a little bit better of a racehorse but I'm just so glad that I took him home, rather than trying to grind him out and make more money. I hate to say it that way, but I'm glad I decided to take him home and let him do something else in life."

Lockard, whose farm not only serves as the base of her breeding operation, but also as a retraining center or retirement home for her horses, already has a couple of recent retirees she's hoping will point toward next year's Makeover.

"We have another mare that we didn't breed, that I bought, and we raced her and she won a cheap race at Charles Town, and same thing. I said, 'This mare is as nice as Walter, I'm taking her home,' and we have her now, she's just so wonderful. She's going to go do her first little event in December and she's going to be a little eventing or dressage horse."

In the meantime, she keeps in touch with Sloan, who sends updates on Walter, aka Dom, aka Forthegreatergood. Sloan has already promised that once the gelding has a few more hunts on his resume, she'll let Lockard take him out for her first foxhunting experience.

"She thanked me one day, she said, 'Thank you for raising such an amazing horse,'" said Lockard. "It's like Walter stepped up to the plate and Laura did such a great job with him. The whole story is just so nice."

West Virginia-bred Tip Top Diva, a 6-year-old daughter of Garnered, cuts a corner on the way to a win in the 2021 barrel racing discipline with trainer Dakotah Rowel. Bred by Rene Moore, Rachael Moore and Mary Moore, the mare is owned by Marsha Wiles.

Professional trainer Alison O'Dwyer, from Severn, Md., puts Louisiana-bred Kubo Cat through some paces in the 2021 dressage division.

Amateur trainer Benjamin Lynch, from Fallston, Md., and his Kentucky-bred Ramses won the 2021 polo division. Ramses also received the best-conditioned award and Lynch was named the top amateur.

Aiken Prep, who competed in showjumping and eventing with professional trainer Emma Ayre (Virginia), was voted the 2021 top Pennsylvania-bred. The 10-year-old gelded son of Friends Lake, bred by Glenn Thompson, is owned by Kate Ayre.

Barwin, who competed in polo and barrel racing with owner/trainer Sara Kolenda (Michigan), was voted the 2020 top Pennsylvania-bred. The 6-year-old gelded son of Scipion was bred by Jodie Pointer.

den by professional trainer Jazz Napravnik was crowned the 2020 eventing champion and won the 2020 top Maryland-bred award, while also finishing third overall in the 2020 showjumping discipline. The 8-year-old gelded son of Not For Love, bred by Two Legends Farm and David Wade and owned/trained by Edward Maher during his racing career, made his final start in November 2019.

"It was surreal. His finale round for the eventing was foot perfect. I came out of the ring crying, gosh I'm getting emotional talking about it," said Napravnik. "I recall walking from the covered arena back to the barn, I was by myself, and I remember saying, 'Well, I actually won. This isn't a dream anymore, this actually happened, it's in the books.'"

Napravnik, whose sister Rosie was the 2019 eventing champion with Kentucky-bred Sanimo, will continue working with "Chester" to further his eventing career.

"Having Barbie and Peter Horneffer's support to carry on his eventing career is extremely exciting," said Napravnik. "I told her she can't foxhunt him all that much because I've got eventing plans for him."

Page McKenney

Napravnik also trained Page McKenney, a Pennsylvania-bred multiple stakes-winning millionaire who retired after a third in the 2018 Monmouth Cup Stakes-G3, to a third in the 2020 field hunter discipline.

"You know we see so many that fail at the racetrack, that go on to be great sport-horses, but we don't often see the ones that really excelled, go on to other careers," she said. "He walked in there with all the confidence in the world and I couldn't have asked him to go any better in that finale round."

Bred and owned by Dr. James Bryant and Linda Davis, the 11-year-old Eavesdropper gelding lives at Napravnik's farm in Monkton, Md., where the two are enjoying foxhunting with the Elkridge-Harford Hounds.

"He took to it like a duck to water," said Napravnik. "He was chill, he was relaxed, he jumped the trappiest jumps out hunting, crossed anything and I was like, 'This is what he wants to do. This is where he belongs.'" ✹

West Virginia-bred Super Garner makes his case with winning streak

By Joe Clancy

The best—well, the most-accomplished—Thoroughbred of 2021 you've never heard of lives at Fair Hill Training Center. West Virginia-bred Super Garner won't make anybody forget Knicks Go or Essential Quality, but carries around plenty of achievements in an otherwise fairly non-descript frame.

Chestnut, happy, an eater and a palm-licker, Super Garner won nine of 10 starts this year through October to put him in the chase for the winningest horse of 2021. Trained by Bernard Dunham for his father's Dunham Thoroughbreds and his uncle Paul Stanalonis' KCMH Racing, Super Garner opened the year with a loss at Aqueduct in January before reeling off the nine wins at Charles Town (five), Finger Lakes (two), Fort Erie and Laurel Park. Coming in starter allowance or optional claiming races, the victories gave Super Garner $114,219 in earnings and a small taste of the big time (medium time?) for Dunham.

The 28-year-old started training in 2017—his Equibase profile goes back to 1991 but those early starts belong to his dad (also named Bernard). The younger Dunham won 14 races in 2019, matched that total in 2020 and sat at 17 through Nov. 8. His father owns Delta Engineering, a company that specializes in water infrastructure for cities—selling water meters and the like—and trained more as a hobby than a profession on a farm in Berks County, Pennsylvania. His son took it a step further, after graduating from Texas A&M with a degree in marine engineering.

"I grew up on a farm in Morgantown and my dad had a few horses at a time," said Bernard. "I got out of school and told him I wanted to do horses for a while and see if I could try my hand at it. I give my parents credit, they said I could have six months at it, and they said I was going to learn how tough this really is. It is tough, but I got very lucky."

Dunham claimed Bowman's Beast in November 2017, and won five races with the veteran through his 10-year-old season in 2019. Dunham kept horses at New Jersey's Mount Holly Farm for a bit, at Parx Racing and Delaware Park before settling into stalls in trainer Mark Shuman's barn at Fair Hill.

Like Bowman's Beast, Super Garner joined the stable via a claim—$5,000—out of a win at Charles Town in May 2020. The son of West Virginia stallion Garnered had won nine races in four seasons, all at Charles Town, for trainers Crystal Pickett, Lela Hanagan and Wade Sanderson. Super Garner lost five for Dunham to close 2020, but showed some promise especially after a winter break at Fair Hill. Dunham aimed high and shipped to an $8,000 claimer at Aqueduct in January. Super Garner finished eighth of nine.

He didn't lose again for more than 10 months, until fourth as the 1-2 favorite at Finger Lakes Nov. 10.

"I switched him to training on the grass, on these hills over here and it made a big difference with his back end," said Dunham. "His back end was always a little bit sore. Not bad, but stuff that you had to work with. When he started doing that, it was a lot better. We liked him enough that after we gave him a break to sort him out, I took him to Aqueduct because I thought they would take him for $5,000 in West Virginia. I wanted to make sure I had a race, I knew he'd get fit there and they wouldn't take him."

Thirteen days after Aqueduct, Super Garner went to Charles Town and won a $5,000 starter allowance going 6½ furlongs. He did it again in February, March and April, while risked for a $15,000 tag. Exposed and likely targeted for a claim in West Virginia, Super Garner took a road trip to Finger Lakes in western New York in May—and ousted $5,000 starter horses going 4½ furlongs.

A starter went with five runners at Charles Town June 3, and Super Garner ran away again while paying a paltry $2.80. Back on the road, he wired seven others in a 6-furlong starter allowance at Finger Lakes June 30—by a head, the closest the streak came to ending. Next came Canada, where Super Garner and Dunham traveled 360 miles to Fort Erie racetrack and won again, in a $8,000 starter, Aug. 17.

MAGGIE KIMMITT

West Virginia-bred Super Garner gets some sun at Fair Hill with Nicole Dankanich and Bernard Dunham.

Dunham couldn't find another spot for his stable star so put the streak on the line in a $5,000 starter allowance at Laurel Park Oct. 8. A higher-profile track and tougher foes meant little to Super Garner, who won by 4½ lengths going 5½ furlongs.

"Now his biggest problem is people duck him," Dunham said. "I enter him in every nickel starter I can find in West Virginia, Finger Lakes, Canada, all over. The pressure is hard. I want to win 10 [consecutive] races with him. After 10, we'll see. I don't know how these guys who have Kentucky Derby horses and stuff deal with the pressure. My family comes to watch him try to keep the streak going. I'm nervous. It'll be my fault if he loses."

If he feels the pressure, Super Garner doesn't let on. He eats "everything," his trainer said, and welcomes visitors with a rattle of the stall door and some sloppy licks of a hand.

"He's as friendly as they come, which makes him really easy to work around," said Dunham. "He obviously has taken to the Fair Hill lifestyle. He's the biggest eater in the barn. You wouldn't think he was all that fast or even good, and definitely not a speed horse. You can go out and graze him. You can do whatever you want with him. He lays down a lot. He likes to goof around and lick people, he's just a nice guy."

Super Garner wasn't behind a horse at any point in his winning streak, was favored in eight and carried four jockeys – Arnaldo Bocachica, Andre Worrie, Christopher Husbands and Wesley Ho – to wins. Treks to racetracks in the region, and beyond, didn't bother the 7-year-old much either as he traveled 3,608 miles (give or take) to race and return for his nine wins.

Look for more miles to pile up as 2021 draws to a close. Dunham will scour condition books.

"Would I go back to Laurel? Yes," he said. "They can't dodge him at four tracks. The good news is he's such a good traveler, I can run him anywhere."

Super Garner's sire, Garnered, made eight starts for his breeder Jerry Shields and trainer Allen Jerkens – winning five and placing second twice. Among his wins was a victory over champion sprinter (and top sire) Speightstown in the 2003 Jaipur Handicap at Belmont Park. The son of Holy Bull stood at Naylee Farm in West Virginia and sired 108 foals before his death last year at age 22.

"I hate that he's no longer here, but we had him from the time he was 7," said Naylee's Rene Moore. "He was such a neat horse. Had a spinal injury, so wasn't able to breed many mares but everything he got could run or do something."

Garnered has sired 41 winners from 72 starters, led by $290,103 earner Mean Bean (winner of the 2020 Mint Mission Stakes at Charles Town). The 9-year-old is his sire's only stakes winner and holds a narrow lead on Super Garner for leading earner. Other leading runners include the stakes-placed Nay's Back and Flash Traffic. Beyond racing, Garnered's daughter Tip Top Diva won the barrel racing competition at the Thoroughbred Makeover in October.

Despite being by a West Virginia stallion, Super Garner was not nominated to the West Virginia Breeders Classics – and Dunham declined a 10-percent supplemental nomination fee – so did not get a chance at the big money at Charles Town Oct. 9. He'd have been a handful in the Onion Juice at 7 furlongs, but oh well. His breeder Patricia Shockey still gets breeders' awards, and follows his career closely.

"I'm very proud of him," she said. "When he was little, because he was a chestnut, he reminded me of Secretariat and I loved Secretariat. I used to call him Superman as a foal because he just seemed to be the leader of the pack of the foals we had. We had two or three fillies, he was the only boy, and was always a sentimental favorite."

Shockey credits Hanagan with Super Garner's success and saved some praise for Dunham too.

"He was a beautiful young foal and Lela prepared him to be the horse he's turned out to be," said Shockey. "And they've done a great job with him where he is now, too. He sure seems like he likes it. I applaud them. I hope he keeps it going and is treated the best way he can be."

Without a stakes win, Super Garner will probably yield the state's Horse of the Year crown to undefeated West Virginia Breeders Classic winner Muad'dib, though Dunham wasn't ruling out a showdown someday.

"Tell them I'd run against that horse in a match race going 6½ furlongs if anybody wants to put it together," the trainer said with a laugh.

Super Garner would be there.

Big Winners

Through Nov. 18, Greeley and Ben led all North American Thoroughbreds with 11 wins (from 14 starts). The Kentucky-bred has raced at Remington Park, Prairie Meadows and Oaklawn Park this year and won the David M. Vance Stakes in September. Like Super Garner, Greeley and Ben had won his last nine starts. Free to Fly has been plying her trade in the region lately with wins at Parx, Delaware and Monmouth part of a 10-win season. Her six-race winning streak stopped when she was third at Delaware Oct. 28. Six Ninety One had won 10 of 18 at Turf Paradise and Arizona Downs. Shinny had 10 wins on the season while racing at Turf Paradise and Canterbury Park. Super Garner was the only horse with nine. Pennsylvania-bred star Chub Wagon was among a group of horses with eight wins on the year. ✹

Living with it

Jim Herbener saved my life in October. Sadly, he'll never even know it. Not that he wouldn't have done anything he could to save my life but, you see, Jim died from a massive heart attack two weeks earlier in the middle of the Keeneland September yearling sale.

His death was a tragic loss to his wife Kathy and their daughter Heather and all four of Heather's children, but it was also a loss for the Thoroughbred industry in which fewer and fewer true horsemen ply their trade as farmers and stockmen. That's what we really are at bottom, farmers and stockmen.

Jimmy (that is what I always called him) was not a Kentucky-bred hardboot. He learned his horsemanship under the tutelage of Virginia's finest producers of horses for the hunting field and show ring. At the same time, I was growing up in Pennsylvania learning similar things from equally fine mentors. Like I did, Jim got his first glimpse of the Thoroughbred world at the Saratoga yearling sale and was smitten. He realized, as I had done five years earlier, that a yearling sale is just a horse show from which you hope not to bring the horses home.

At his memorial service, everyone referred to Jimmy as a quiet man, a man of few words who preferred to let his horses speak for him. In private, I actually found him to be quite voluble. Jim and I had been "sales friends" for many years but never spent any time together away from our consignments. When you were lucky enough to be stabled in the same yard as the Herbener consignment, especially in the later books of a sale, there was a lot of down time to get to know each other.

In 2011 Bill and Pam Maley, our best friends in Kentucky, lost the lease on their farm, Dunford, and decided to retire and spend the next few years on their boat. Dixie and I had been keeping our mares, seasonally, with Bill since 1978 when we first sent a mare to Kentucky to be bred. Her name was Diran (1973, Ridan—Gossip Column) and she was to visit the stallion Ali Oop (1974, Al Hattab—Courtly Dee) who was standing at Ben Walden Sr.'s Dearborn Farm.

We shipped the mare to Kentucky and got a call the next morning from Ben telling us that he did not have a stall for Diran so he had sent her next door to Audubon Farm where she would be well cared for by the manager, a young fellow named Bill Maley.

Thirty-four years later we were still sending all of our mares to Bill: first at Audubon, then at Wimbledon when he became manager there and finally at Dunford on Iron Works Pike where he and his new bride Pam had hung out their shingle. When Bill told me they were retiring, my first call was to Jimmy Herbener. He told me that he and Kathy were trying not to take seasonal mares but that he would take ours. I can't describe my relief when he told me that.

Now we were no longer just "sales friends." We had reason to talk on a regular basis and I even stayed with them on one of my trips to deliver mares. We talked about our shared pasts in the show horse business and he even told me that he had bought an English Bull Terrier because he had seen ours at a horse show in Virginia. At the time we didn't know each other and it wasn't until one of our dinners together when he realized that our dog Deputy had been the dog he admired.

I'd like to say that we shared many traits; a relatively placid temperament; a sales philosophy that did not include a lot of hyperbole; a respect for prospective buyers' intelligence; and a willingness to provide any information a buyer requested without overwhelming him or her with our opinions. As I said, we let the horses speak for themselves. We also each had wives and partners that were integral to our success and daughters who were dynamite on the end of a shank. The one place where we differed is that Jim and Kathy moved to Kentucky while Dixie and I stayed in Pennsylvania.

Jim died early on Sunday morning Sept. 19. He suffered a heart attack and died at home on his farm. I got a call that morning from Pam Maley, who now works at Keeneland, and I was shocked and saddened by the news. Jimmy was four years younger than I and always seemed "solid as a rock." I thought about Jimmy a lot in the ensuing weeks and mourned the loss of yet another consummate horseman from our generation; Paddy Nielson, John Forbes, Bucky Reynolds, Bill Graves, Hugh Motley, Tom Voss, Gerry Dilger and Steve Dance just to name a few. At this stage in life you can't help staring your own mortality in the face.

I said at the beginning that Jimmy saved my life. On Oct. 1, I was sitting at home watching the new Sopranos movie when I suddenly felt as if an anvil was sitting on my chest and my left arm had gone numb. Because of all the thinking I had been doing about Jimmy I immediately knew I was having a heart attack. Dixie called 911 and the EMTs arrived within 10 minutes. I was whisked to the hospital and soon had a stent inserted in the artery the doctors call the "widow maker." I am fully recovered today but I still think of Jimmy every day.

The author Larry McMurtry, who died in March at age 84, said that there is no reasoning with grief but this is cold comfort for Jim's family and friends. We will all just have to live with that. ✹

Northview adds two stallions for 2022

Maryland's Northview Stallion Station will add graded stakes winner Engage and the regally bred Galawi (Ire) to its stallion roster for 2022.

Engage, a son of leading sire Into Mischief, competed at the top level of sprint competition in a 19-start career for trainers Chad Brown and Steve Asmussen. The bay 6-year-old won graded stakes at 2 and 4, including Keeneland's Stoll Keenon Ogden Phoenix-G2 over eventual champion sprinter Whitmore and Grade 1 winners Lexitonian, Hog Creek Hustle and Promises Fulfilled in 2019. Engage was one of his sire's top juveniles in 2017 when winning two of three starts, topped by the Futurity-G3 at Belmont Park. At 3, he won Belmont's Gold Fever and finished second in three graded stakes.

Off for nearly a year from 3 to 4, he returned to win the Bensalem at Parx Racing and finished fourth behind Mitole in the Breeders' Cup Sprint-G1 in 2019. Engage, bred by Woods Edge Farm, won five races and earned $802,780 in a racing career that included six starts in 2020 and 2021. He represents the successful pedigree cross of Into Mischief with Speightstown mares, which has yielded five black-type winners from 14 starters, including Grade 1-winning sprinters Mia Mischief and Mischevious Alex and Grade 1-placed Make Mischief. Engage's dam, the stakes-placed Nefertiti, is out of graded stakes winner and $504,532 earner Clearly a Queen.

"This horse is pure speed," said Northview general manager David Wade. "He is the first true sprinter we've retired to Northview in years."

Galawi adds international flavor as a son of star international stallion Dubawi (Ire), sire of 2021 Breeders' Cup winners Yibir (GB), Space Blues (Ire) and Modern Games (Ire). Bred and raced by Wertheimer and Frere, the 4-year-old Galawi won once in three starts in France and the United States. His dam, Galikova (Fr), won the 2011 Prix Vermeille-G1 in France and earned $1.1 million for Wertheimer and Frere. She is a daughter of Galileo (Ire) and also a half-sister to three-time Breeders' Cup Mile-G1 winner Goldikova (Ire).

"I can't imagine a better-bred turf horse," said Wade of the newcomer.

Dubawi stands at Darley's Dalham Hall Stud in England. Galawi joins Claiborne Farm's Demarchelier (GB) as a son of Dubawi at stud in the U.S.

Engage will stand for $5,000 live foal while Galawi will be $2,000. Both are at the farm in Chesapeake City, available for inspection and will be part of an open house with the rest of the stallion lineup 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Dec. 11.

Freshman sire Blofeld gets first winner

Crabs N Beer, the first runner for his sire Blofeld, also became the stallion's first winner at Delaware Park Oct. 16.

The gray/roan gelding owned by Charles Blanford and trained by Jamie Ness broke sharply and cruised to a 9¾-length win in 1:10.89, the fastest for a 2-year-old maiden at the track in 2021. Bred in Maryland by Kyle Horlacher, Crabs N Beer is out of the winning Kitalpha mare Get'm Up Pronto.

Blofeld, a son of Quality Road, won all three starts at 2 and amassed $745,420 in 14 starts. He won Belmont Park's Futurity-G2 in 1:09.49 for 6 furlongs. He also captured Aqueduct's 1-mile Nashua-G2 and won his debut at Saratoga as a juvenile. At 4 he won the Gulfstream Park Handicap-G2 at 1 mile.

From the female line of Flight Dancer developed by the late Edward P. Evans at his Spring Hill Farm in Virginia, Blofeld is out of Storm Minstrel, a daughter of Storm Cat who earned $299,339 and won or placed in seven stakes. Blofeld's second dam is multiple graded stakes winner and Grade 1-placed Colonial Minstrel (by Pleasant Colony), an earner of $556,586. Third dam, European champion filly Minstrella (by The Minstrel out of Flight Dancer), produced additional stakes winners Minidar (a Grade 3 winner and dam of $752,280-earner A Little Warm) and Unrestrained.

The family includes Horses of the Year and top sires Saint Liam and $15,988,500-earner Gun Runner.

Blofeld has 18 named 2-year-olds. The syndicated gray/roan 9-year-old stands the 2022 season for $4,000 at Murmur Farm in Darlington, Md.

She/Her

The Mean Queen adds Grand National to clinch steeplechase crown

BY JOE CLANCY. PHOTOGRAPHS BY TOD MARKS

Four weeks after The Mean Queen (Ire) made off with the American Grand National-G1 hurdle stakes by a half-length over main rival Snap Decision, she goofed around a Pennsylvania field with her new best friend Rhonda.

The Paint mare really hadn't figured out her role just yet.

"She and Rhonda are friends, The Mean Queen really likes her, she's nice to her, but she doesn't understand why Rhonda won't train with her," said Keri Brion, who trains The Mean Queen for Rod and Alice Moorhead's Buttonwood Farm and sent the likely 2021 steeplechase Eclipse Award winner to Becky Mark's farm near Jennersville for a late-autumn break. "She'd kind of like her to gallop around a bit more."

Ever-tolerant, Rhonda drew the line there and few would blame her. The Mean Queen packs a punch when it comes to galloping. The 5-year-old daughter of Doyen (Ire) won every hurdle race she finished in 2021—a maiden at Ireland's Wexford racecourse in April, and five American races culminating in Grade 1 triumphs in the Jonathan Sheppard at Saratoga Aug. 18, Lonesome Glory at Belmont Park Sept. 16 and Grand National at Far Hills, N.J. Oct. 16. The latter two victories came at the expense of Snap Decision, her chief rival for championship honors after running his winning streak to nine with victories in the Temple Gwathmey-G2 and Iroquois-G1 to start the 2021 season.

The two stars headed to Far Hills with the championship on the line. The Mean

The Mean Queen (right) holds off Snap Decision at the finish of the American Grand National at Far Hills, the final Grade 1 of the 2021 season.

Queen won their first meeting, in the Lonesome Glory, by 2 lengths. With it's 2⅝ miles, 14 fences, $150,000 purse and national television coverage on the Fox Sports show America's Day at the Races, the Grand National offered another big stage for both horses.

And they put on a show.

They made up half the field as the game-but-outgunned Amschel (GB) and Irish raider Chosen Mate (Ire) completed the field for the third of six races on American jump racing's richest day. Amschel, behind the favorites in his last three starts, set the pace for 2 miles. The Mean Queen and Snap Decision took it from there.

On the final run along the backstretch, Richie Condon let The Mean Queen stride on and she reached Amschel with ease at the 12th fence. Snap Decision and Graham Watters matched the move, drafting around the turn and then looming to her outside coming to the final fence. She led, not by much, and he was rolling. On the inside and facing a challenge, with the fence, the race and plenty more in the balance, she left the ground about a half-stride sooner than a jockey might want. She was high and long though, and landed running. He met it more in stride, like the previous 13 and jumped it fast.

"There wasn't a stride there and I was thinking, 'My God…' I could feel Snap Decision very close to me and I just sat there, full credit to the mare, she came up and absolutely winged it. It was all her, I'm taking no credit for that," Condon said. "As soon as we landed, she was going to be tough to get to. The mare is so genuine, she puts her neck down and she galloped to the line. Amazing. Absolutely amazing."

Aboard Snap Decision, Watters had a similar feeling.

"She outjumped me at the last," he said. "Richie set up to pop and she came up out of his hands. Snap had to put down, he was still able to get away from it pretty quickly. He didn't jump it badly at all. We got over the road crossing and I said, 'I have her.' "

But he didn't.

That big leap at the last put her in control, even if he wasn't finished. Snap Decision rallied and drew alongside in the stretch. Getting an eight-pound mares' allowance in the weights, she powered up the hill, twisted her right ear to find him as he got to her girth. He dug in. She fought back. But he never got past.

"You couldn't fault either horse," said Watters. "Neither of them put a foot wrong. There was nothing I would change. I spoke to a couple guys afterward and some said you could leave it even later, but I wouldn't want to leave it much later than I did. What do you do next time?"

A racing fan's race, the Grand National—decided by a half-length with 20 lengths to Amschel in third—lived up to the hype and left many hoping for another round, which could come next year.

"Those are the two best horses in America and I would argue that they'd both have very good chances to win good races in Ireland or anywhere," said Brion afterward. "I think Snap Decision is top class. It is not that he's lost a step, she's just genuinely a better horse. He loses nothing in defeat, that horse. And I would have felt the same way if we lost like that. I said it all week, 'I hope they hook up and I hope it's a race and I hope there are no excuses. Let them lay it all out on the line.' They did."

The Mean Queen finished with $303,000 in American earnings for 2021, from five wins (in six starts), to lead the standings. Her only blemish was a lost jockey when she ducked in and then out while in command late in the Jonathan Kiser novice stakes at Saratoga. Snap Decision wound up second with $159,000, on two wins and two seconds in four starts.

There will be a federal inquiry if she loses the Eclipse Award vote, where she aims to be the first filly or mare steeplechase champion since Maryland-bred Life's Illusion in 1975.

Once she's finished making Rhonda's world miserable, The Mean Queen will get a chance to prove her mettle on the world's stage as Brion intends to run in the David Nicholson Mares' Hurdle at the Cheltenham Festival next year. She was listed as low as 16-1 with English betting sites in the ante-post market.

She'll get a break through November, maybe a little longer, then start doing some light work at Fair Hill Training Center before heading to Ireland. She could run in February as a final prep for the Festival in March.

In November, the downtime was the concern.

"She's good, I just don't think she's enjoying it like you'd like her to," said Brion. "I wouldn't say she necessarily loves it. She goes out for two hours and she's good, then she wants to do something. We'll make her stay out until December 1, maybe a little longer, and probably bring her in and start jogging. For right now in her life, she likes to have a job and something to do."

Brion has said all along that The Mean Queen succeeds because of her effort and her attitude. She'll try, hard, all the time. That attitude can be stressful in the morning, like when she won't let someone put a bridle on her, but it works in a race.

"She's just so tough," Brion said. "You don't train that. It's not me. I'd love to be like, 'Look what I did.' It's her. Training her is adapting to her, it's not telling her what to do. It's her world, we're living in it. As long as we can let her be like that, we just try to help her where we can, and let her be as good as she can be."

Even Rhonda was doing her part.

Fun at Far Hills

Run for the 100th time, Far Hills once again hosted throngs of tailgaters and the best American steeplechasing can offer with six races worth $400,000 in purses. It was a long way from the $850,000 offered in 2019—but an even longer way from the zero put up in 2020 when Covid restricted the National Steeplechase Association calendar to nine race meets.

Just getting back on the schedule and hosting horses and spectators again was a victory.

"Everybody asked us what we were going to do for the 100th as a celebration," said Guy Torsilieri, Far Hills co-chair. "There was a simple answer. We were going to try to have it. At some points during the year, we weren't sure we were going to be able to have it."

Far Hills hosted a big crowd—most importantly sold-out in the key tailgating spots on the hillside overlooking the course and along Chestnut Lane in the infield. Corporate tent business was a little off 2019, but you'd have been hard pressed to notice. Pari-mutuel handle reached $357,938 including a cross-country pick five with two races from Belmont Park and three from Far Hills, with account-wagering only and no on-site tellers. Hubbed through Monmouth Park's simulcast network, the betting total trailed 2019 by less than $100,000, but included one fewer race, far fewer runners (33 compared to 71) and little expense for infrastructure.

"We will not be bringing back live tellers because with it comes all the other expense–setup, takedown, the voluminous amount of cash you need on hand to make it work and so on," said Torsilieri. "Each of those teller stations needs electric, fiber, needs to be under a tent and on and on."

The handle pales in comparison to the average day at a racetrack, and will need to increase before it generates revenue for the race meet and/or horsemen, but is a big step forward.

"It was a huge success," Torsilieri said of the day. "We had great attendance. We were disappointed we had to decrease the purses as much as we did, but we were just trying to survive. The pari-mutuel numbers were very, very rewarding. It surprised all of us, and NYRA and Monmouth Park and I are all talking about what to do next year to build on it."

On the track, the undercard offered a little bit for everybody. Riverdee Stable's City Dreamer (Ire) halted a nine-race losing streak with a 7¼-length score in the $75,000 Foxbrook Champion Hurdle novice stakes. Trained by Jack Fisher and ridden by Watters, the winner stalked leader Booby Trap throughout and roared into position on the final turn. The son of Casamento (Ire) kicked away from Ritzy A. P. in the stretch to pull a mild upset.

The Foxbrook was City Dreamer's fourth jump win in 22 starts and his second since coming to the U.S. in 2018. He's finished behind some of the best in the game including four losses to Snap Decision in 2019 and 2020 and one to The Mean Queen in Saratoga this summer (a fourth in the Grade 1 Jonathan Sheppard). Watters was impressed with the effort from the 7-year-old, a $53,392 purchase at Goffs in 2018.

"That's the first time I've actually ridden him in a race," said the jockey. "I didn't know what to expect going in. I was concerned with Ritzy A. P. after I won on him at Belmont, Booby Trap has proven himself as well. Just going down the back straight the last time we started getting racing and he started winging the three [fences] down the back and I felt like, 'I've got plenty of horse here.' He sort of surprised me. I shouldn't have been surprised the way it turned out. He's run some good races."

Watters and City Dreamer repeated the triumph three weeks later in the AFLAC Supreme Hurdle, another novice stakes, at Callaway Gardens Nov. 6. The chestnut dropped way back when sixth of seven early, and sprinted through the stretch to edge another Far Hills winner, Historic Heart (Ire), by a half-length.

The late-season wins pushed City Dreamer to fourth in the 2021 standings with $117,500 in earnings while giving him five wins over jumps (to go with five seconds and two thirds) and a jumps-only bankroll of $254,698.

Historic Heart won his American debut for Brion and Atlantic Friends Racing in the $50,000 Harry E. Harris Stakes for 4-year-old hurdlers at Far Hills.

A racing partnership headed by Paul Willis, Atlantic Friends formed in 2019 and covers both sides of the ocean with most of the partners living in the United States but most of the horses (all until recently) training and racing in England. An English native who played soccer at West Virginia Wesleyan and in his words, "Nobody kicked me out" of the U.S., Willis grew up riding and following racing as his father was a bookmaker. Now the president and CEO of Seacoast United Sports Club, which runs year-round soccer clubs and sports venues in New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Maine, Willis saw some of Brion's success at Saratoga this summer and reached out.

"I saw what was going on at Saratoga and Keri getting a little bit of limelight," Willis said after accepting the trophy. "We got on talking. I'm a passionate person as you can tell by my voice [or lack of a voice]. Up until last night, I had never met her. We're friends because of the communication. I just called her, said I'd like to speak with you."

In other action at Far Hills, Presence of Mind (Ire) won the Appleton Stakes, a handicap hurdle, for Bruton Street-US, Leslie Young and Tom Garner. The 6-year-old finished third at Shawan Downs in September, and led for most of the way in the Appleton to collect his second win over jumps.

Ben Griswold IV's Irish import Realist (GB) ran away with the Gladstone Hurdle, a stakes for 3-year-olds, while Joe Fowler's New York-bred Down Royal was the only American-bred winner on the card after landing the Peapack Stakes for fillies and mares. ■

Fisher, Watters earn championships on final day of steeplechase season

BY SEAN CLANCY. PHOTOGRAPHS BY TOD MARKS

Jack Fisher and Graham Watters clinched their respective trainer and jockey titles on the season's final day at Charleston in South Carolina.

With days to go in the 2021 season and National Steeplechase Association championships on the line, jockey Graham Watters and trainer Jack Fisher said all the right things.

"Look, I've had a fantastic year," Watters said. "If I win the championship, it would be great, but I've won a bunch of stakes races and ridden good horses, it's been a fantastic year."

"For the sport," Fisher said, "it's great to have someone else win the leading trainer titles."

As the steeplechase season wound to a close with a four-race card at the Steeplechase at Charleston in South Carolina Nov. 14, Watters, seeking his first title, was tied with Tom Garner, also looking for his first, with 19 wins. Fisher, seeking his 14th title in a year where he was inducted to Thoroughbred racing's Hall of Fame, was tied with Leslie Young, looking for her first, with 15 wins.

On the course at Charleston, with two races to go, they were all still tied. And then they weren't.

Watters placed Riverdee Stable's Gostisbehere, trained by Fisher, in a stalking spot behind Garner on the Young-trained Don't Shout (Ire) in the $20,000 handicap hurdle, before sweeping past with an outside move at the second-last and charging to an easy win. So easy, Watters looked over his right shoulder once, twice, stood up and swirled his whip, once, twice, three, four times. That humble, "If I win the championship…" was long gone.

"To win the championship, when it was there, when I got it, it was great, I was delighted," said Watters, 30. "I wasn't lying when I said it would be great to win it, but it wasn't what I set out this year to do. In your career in racing, it's nice to be able to put a little marker next to it and say you've done that."

Watters and Garner, grafters as they're called in Europe, shook hands and wrapped shoulders on horseback after the race.

"In recent years, guys haven't been getting along, but it's good to have a friend to compete with, we talk a lot, we travel to the races a lot, it gives it a friendly vibe," Watters said. "We were joking about at the start of the fall that it was going to go to the last day. We didn't think it would go to the last race."

Garner made sure of it, picking up a late ride on Fast Vision (Fr) in the finale.

One up with one to go, Watters and Fisher capped their season as Bruton Street-US runner Ghostlighter upset the $25,000 Alston Cup, an allowance hurdle for 3-year-olds. The son of Ghostzapper avoided a loose horse who swerved in front of him coming to the last and bumped him after the last to post a 2¾-length win over Garner on the Young-trained Fast Vision, also bothered by the loose horse. Ghostlighter improved from fifths at Shawan Downs and Far Hills to break his maiden over hurdles.

"I thought he would run good on a sharper track," said the jockey. "I was hoping he would prefer that ground, that track. He jumped awesome and he was game, he showed his honesty when the loose horse ran across him, any other 3-year-old would have followed him. He was good, very good. It was a great way to finish the year."

Watters wasn't finished with 2021 highlights. Three weeks after winning the championship at Charleston, he and his fiancé, Rosie Allen were off to Perthshire, Scotland, to be married at Kinloch House, a hotel owned by Allen's parents.

Fisher ran two horses at Charleston. Both won to nail down the championship. The Maryland-based trainer won his first NSA crown in 2003 and hasn't gone more than two years without one since—winning in 2003, 2004, 2007-09, 2012-19 (including a tie in 2013) and now 2021. Only Jonathan Sheppard, who retired after winning his 26th crown in 2020, owns more NSA titles. Fisher trailed Young by three heading to the 2021 season's final two weekends, but had two at Callaway Gardens and one at Montpelier Nov. 6 to give himself a chance to win it all at Charleston.

■ Alice and Rod Moorhead's Buttonwood Farm rode the exploits of leading earner The Mean Queen (Ire), 5-for-6 on the season, to its first owner championship, earning $456,350 to best six-time champion Irv Naylor. Bruton Street, Riverdee and Leipers Fork Steeplechasers completed the top five.

FUELED BY The Mill

Top: Tomgarrow jumps a fence during his romp in October's International Gold Cup, which clinched the NSA timber championship for the Leslie Young trainee. Bottom: Goodoldtimes (left) jumps alongside Mystic Strike on the way to victory in the Pennsylvania Hunt Cup in November.

Keri Brion earned the money title for trainers with $759,450. With 13 victories, the Fair Hill Training Center-based conditioner finished third behind Fisher and Young in the races-won standings. Brion won four of the year's five Grade 1 stakes.

Garner edged Watters by $19,900 for the money title among jockeys, a small consolation in a bigger world of disappointment.

"Obviously, disappointed," said Garner. "You shouldn't, but you obviously dwell on things, the seconds, the things you did wrong."

There weren't all that many as the Englishman won 19 races and finished second in another 20 while piling up $628,550 in earnings. He won major races on Baltimore Bucko (GB), Tomgarrow (Ire) and The Mean Queen among others.

The Mean Queen nearly doubled her closest pursuer, Snap Decision, earning $303,000 on the season to claim the leading earner title and a certain Eclipse Award. The ill-fated Baltimore Bucko finished third with $126,000. City Dreamer (Ire) and Down Royal rounded out the top five. The Mean Queen was crowned champion filly and mare and novice.

Leipers Fork Steeplechasers' Tomgarrow (Ire) topped all timber horses after winning the International Gold Cup in October and notching four seconds from five starts for Young.

Ben Griswold's Realist (GB) earned the 3-year-old championship with a single American start–winning the $30,000 Gladstone at Far Hills. His $18,000 paycheck bested Ghostlighter by $750.

■ Garner increased the pressure on Watters at the International at Gold Cup Oct. 23 when he won three races, including the International Gold Cup timber stakes aboard Tomgarrow. The winner capitalized on a miscue by Watters, who went off course early on Storm Team. The $75,000 stakes became a two-horse race and the Irish-bred toyed with Stand Down (Ire), winning by 49 lengths.

Ironically, Garner had gone off course at the same spot in the same race a year earlier.

"I got lucky, it was one of those things I would love to have seen how well he would have done against Storm Team, but it's racing," Garner said. "I was going the same way, I was completely going with them, but I only looked up and saw the red and white flags inside. I was twitching but made the decision. Luckily, I got it right. I had made that mistake before, it's so easy to do there."

Tomgarrow missed in four hurdle tries before converting to timber last fall. The 7-year-old hasn't finished worse than second in six timber forays.

"Tomgarrow is such a mint to jump," Garner said.

Garner won the opener, a maiden hurdle, aboard Gill Johnston's State of Affair, allowing the free-running 5-year-old to bowl along on the lead before rolling to a 5½-length win for trainer Todd Wyatt.

"I was impressed," Garner said. "He was too keen at Shawan but I thought there was no point in two of us pulling so I bounced him out and let him do his own thing in front. He's quite something to look forward to next year."

Two races later, Garner guided Bodes Well (Ire) to a pace-induced win in the steeplethon for Silverton Hill and Young. The son of Rock of Gibraltar (Ire) won the Jonathan Kiser novice hurdle stakes at Saratoga in the summer and handled a quick transition.

"He settled away lovely which he hadn't done in the past. He jumped great, he is so quick to jump," Garner said. "I was impressed with the way he did everything."

■ Hudson River Farm's Iranistan returned to the winner's circle for the first time since Saratoga last summer, taking the Noel Laing at Montpelier Nov. 6. Trained by Brion and ridden by Eddie Keating, the 7-year-old jumped the natural hedges with aplomb before scoring by 1½ lengths over Amschel (GB) and Presence of Mind (Ire).

Iranistan burst onto the steeplechase scene with three wins and two Grade 1 placings in 2018. The son of Einstein lost six in a row over two years before winning two handicaps at Saratoga last summer. Back to the shelf, the dark bay gelding returned with a fourth in the Zeke Ferguson at the International Gold Cup.

■ Irv Naylor's veteran hurdler Bedrock (GB) rallied to win the Zeke Ferguson Memorial at the International Gold Cup, his first win since being imported from England back in 2018. The 8-year-old ran hard in the spring, finishing third in the David Semmes and third in the Iroquois. Trainer Cyril Murphy skipped the summer and aimed at one fall assignment, the $75,000 Grade 2 stakes, run a week after the Grand National at Far Hills. Gerard Galligan guided the winner.

■ Weekend warrior.

During the week, Colin Smith works as an apprentice for Dave Eggleton's Viper Air heating, ventilation and air-conditioning company in White Hall, Md. On weekends, the 18-year-old gallops horses for Gary Murray and Elizabeth Voss and fills in as a jockey when needed. The Saturday morning gallivants morphed into Saturday afternoon races. None bigger than the Pennsylvania Hunt Cup.

Smith waited with Armata Stable's Goodoldtimes (Ire) before striking late to win by 2 lengths over 2019-20 winner Mystic Strike in the 4-mile timber classic Nov. 7. Trained by Alicia Murphy, the 7-year-old snapped a four-race streak of thirds, earning his first win since Callaway Gardens in 2019 when trained by Young.

Smith won his first race on Be Counted for Todd Wyatt last fall and decided to pursue the apprenticeship at Viper after that. Smith rode a few races in the spring and again this fall.

"The sport sucks you back in," Smith said the day before the Pennsylvania Hunt Cup.

He rode Goodoldtimes for the first time in a race at Genesee Valley Oct. 9 and finished 7½ lengths behind Mystic Strike over a rain-sodden course.

"I wasn't riding too much this fall. I went and helped them out when two of their people were away, got on a couple of horses before work," Smith said. "I sat on that horse a few times and they asked me if I wanted to ride two at Genesee Valley. He was third, they were super happy and asked me to ride him back. I was happy to ride him. It was so special. The horse has so much class and so much speed, he had a real turn of foot at the end. It was such a cool feeling."

The Pennsylvania Hunt Cup has long served as a prep for the Maryland Hunt Cup.

"It's never been huge on my bucket list, but no way I would turn it down on a horse like him," Smith said.

Jumping Around

■ Maryland-bred Senor Seville scored in his hurdle debut at the International Gold Cup. Bred by Richard Blue Jr., the son of Seville (Ger) had three champion jockeys on his side—co-owner Sean Clancy (1998), trainer Danielle Hodsdon (2006) and jockey Ross Geraghty (2012).

■ Maryland-bred Road to Oz picked up his second win of 2021 when the 6-year-old son of Quality Road wrestled a neck win over Pocket Talk at the Pennsylvania Hunt Cup. Owned by Holwood Stable and trained by Mark Beecher, the 6-year-old was bred by Larry Johnson.

■ Maggie Bryant's long and storied breeding career continued to produce at Montpelier as Yankee Doodle Boy, Eve's City and Sea Mast won on the card. The first two were trained by Bryant's longtime trainer, Doug Fout, while the latter was trained by Richard Valentine, who also trained for Bryant before her death in July.

■ Maryland-bred Bogey's Image graduated the maiden hurdle ranks at Shawan Downs in September and finished second in a 4-year-old stakes at Far Hills for Dan Colhoun, Achsah O'Donovan and Harvey Goolsby and trainer/jockey Sean McDermott. The son of Imagining was bred by Bob and Ann Kinsley's South Branch Equine. Imagining was represented by another hurdle winner when Bella Coola, a 4-year-old Maryland homebred for Mimi Voss, won at Foxfield in October.

■ Veteran Schoodic won for the 13th time over jumps when he landed the open timber at Shawan for owner Dolly Fisher, her son Jack and jockey Connor Hankin. Schoodic won a pair of 3-year-old hurdle stakes in 2013, captured a Saratoga novice hurdle in 2014, won open hurdle stakes in 2016 and 2017 and placed in two Grade 1 stakes for owner Edie Dixon. Over timber since 2019, the Tiznow gelding won seven more races including the Virginia Gold Cup, International Gold Cup and Genesee Valley Hunt Cup.

■ West Virginia-bred Hepcat scored at Foxfield in October for trainer Sanna Neilson, who co-owns the Bluegrass Cat gelding with Steven Poorman.

■ Owner Will Russell's Animal Kingston was busy this fall, winning Oct. 3 at Foxfield and Oct. 9 at Virginia Fall before placing in a novice hurdle stakes at Callaway Gardens Nov. 6 for trainer Neil Morris. Morris tripled at Virginia Fall, and finished with 12 wins (from just 52 starts) on the year.

MHBA board member Rooney tackles new job with NTRA

By Joe Clancy

Tom Rooney can't quite credit a single moment for his new job as president and CEO of the National Thoroughbred Racing Association, but he knows where he developed his interest in Thoroughbred racing.

"I remember going to Green Mountain racetrack in Vermont which our family used to run and walking back to the stable area with my grandfather," he said in early November, a month before officially starting the NTRA position. "I'm not sure why we went back there, probably to see somebody about a horse, but I remember them hosing down a horse after a race and the horse's muscle is so up and it's all there, the pure, pure adrenaline and excitement and I thought it was the coolest thing. I remember the smell, the moment, it was a moment with my grandfather by myself which was rare because I have something like 35 first cousins, but I remember it for the horses. Some people get the horse bug, and I definitely got it."

Rooney, a former United States congressman from Florida and a member of the Maryland Horse Breeders Association board, has a deep background in sports. His grandfather, NFL legend and pro football Hall of Famer Art Rooney Sr., founded the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1933 and the family has owned and operated the team since. In addition, the Rooneys owned racehorses and several racetracks including Green Mountain, Liberty Bell in Pennsylvania, Yonkers Raceway in New York and Florida's Palm Beach Kennel Club. The Rooney family started Carroll County's Shamrock Farm in 1948 and later campaigned top Maryland-bred Christopher R., who retired to stand at stud at the farm. Art Rooney died in 1988, but Shamrock still breeds, raises and sells Thoroughbreds for the Rooneys and outside clients under the management of Jim Steele.

Tom Rooney served with the U.S. Army as an attorney in the JAG Corps and was a special assistant U.S. attorney at Fort Hood in Texas, served in the First Cavalry Division with the rank of captain, and taught constitutional law at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point in New York. He received a law degree from the University of Miami and a master's in political science from the University of Florida after undergraduate studies at Syracuse University and Washington and Jefferson College, where he earned a B.A. in English literature.

Elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 2009, he represented Florida districts for 10 years and focused on economic, agricultural, national security and military issues. He served on committees on agriculture, armed services and intelligence and–though he knows plenty of challenges lie ahead–plans to draw on that political experience in his new job.

"I look at it as being back in Congress again, but I only have one issue and that's horse racing," he said. "Racing is very much like Congress in a sense. What relationships could be better? Who plays well together? There are all those different types of dynamics. Hopefully because of my record in Congress of being pretty bipartisan, and getting along, I can help bring the industry together for the common goal of the sport."

As part of that mission, the NTRA plans to open an office in Washington, D.C., to focus on federal legislative and policy issues, and conduct a strategic review of the organization and its activities as it places additional focus on its role as the trade association for the Thoroughbred racing and breeding industry. As part of his appointment, Rooney also becomes president of Horse PAC, the NTRA's political action committee.

Rooney sees areas of consensus as keys to the Thoroughbred industry's future–specifically in the areas of taxation, immigration, the national Horseracing Integrity and Safety Authority and sports betting to name a few.

"Sometimes there are parochial biases in the parts of the country you live or states that you race in and I get that," he said. "Your interests are your interests and that's understandable, but the good of racing is good for everybody. You can't just have a Churchill Downs or a Keeneland and that's it. Places like Laurel and Parx have to be successful for the industry to be successful."

As an example, Rooney went back to the early days of the NFL when New York Giants owner Tim Mara insisted that his son Wellington share a scouting report on amateur players with other teams in the league before the draft. Decades later, Art Rooney Sr. convinced the Mara family that a national television contract would be a boon to the league, even if the Giants had to give some ground on the New York regional market. The way those early leaders saw it, NFL teams competed on the field but needed to cooperate in the boardroom and on big-picture issues.

The same holds true today–a key reason franchises are valued in billions of dollars.

Tom Rooney sees a chance to make those kinds of cooperative strides in racing, with the federal legislation creating uniform rules and safety standards and with the expansion of sports betting across the country.

"A good first step for the future is that the public perception will be that there is fairness, and cheaters will be punished, and with the HISA legislation there is some uniformity across the sport," he said. "That's a big part of the frustration some people have with racing.

"There is a huge, huge opportunity and excitement for the sport–especially with sports betting–in getting a new generation interested. We can't get left behind. That's going to be a huge part of my job. It would be a huge missed opportunity, as a way to get younger people involved."

Rooney succeeds Alex Waldrop, who retires after 15 years in the post. NTRA board member Alan Foreman chaired the transition and search committee and credited Rooney's diverse skillset for helping land the job.

"We are incredibly fortunate to have engaged such a talented and experienced individual as Tom as we position the NTRA to address the challenges facing our industry," Foreman said. "I believe Tom's taking on this position will be a game-changer for the NTRA and the Thoroughbred racing industry. Tom's track record of experience and leadership will be invaluable as we move forward and as we expand our presence and advocacy on the federal level."

Throughout its history, the NTRA has taken on many responsibilities–including marketing and promotion–among the various national Thoroughbred organizations, but Rooney sees strength in the role as a trade association representing national interests.

"NTRA has an industry focus and we stick to it and that's our job and we're really good at it," he said. "That's our focus. Nobody else is really in that lane. There are trade associations for everything under the sun in Washington, just to make sure that the interests of that industry or group is reflected and not left out of policy. It's extremely vital. Those federal issues are usually something we can all agree on."

Rooney joined the MHBA board in 2020, and hopes to stay involved if the new responsibilities don't take away from the commitment to either organization.

"I want to do it justice," he said of his involvement with the MHBA. "It might be that I can. I don't know the answer. I'd like to, but I don't want to take that seat away from anybody who might be able to give it more commitment."

He has a small group of broodmares–led by Great Craic (a half-sister to Grade 1 winner Cathryn Sophia), the stakes-placed Lucy Boo and Andiemac (a descendent of Christopher R.)–plus some young horses coming along.

Rooney lives in Florida with his wife Tara and three sons, Tommy, Sean and Seamus. ❧

MHBA adds two staffers to team

Becky Remsberg

Erin Swope

The Maryland Horse Breeders Association welcomes to two full-time staff members: Erin Swope as a bookkeeper in the finance department and Becky Remsberg as an administrative assistant and public outreach coordinator.

Westminster native Swope, 23, graduated in December 2020 from Towson University with a bachelor's degree in business administration, with a concentration in finance. On top of her time at the MHBA, she spends her mornings at Pimlico exercising horses for trainer Mary Eppler.

Swope grew up on a horse farm and has been involved in the industry her entire life. Her father Ben Swope is a farrier who has also trained and ridden his steeplechase horses and is huntsman for Carrollton Hounds. Foxhunting since age 5, Erin rode pony races, has ridden in steeplechase races and began galloping at the track for Eppler after high school.

"I was lucky to get a job galloping for Mary because she has been working in the industry for so long and has had a great deal of success. I worked there all throughout college, getting up between 4 and 5 a.m., six days a week, and riding anywhere from eight to 16 or more horses a day during training hours."

During her last semester of college, Swope worked in the MHBA office as an intern with the Maryland Horse Foundation. "I really enjoyed the culture of the organization and what the organization is involved in. When I found out the MHBA was hiring for a bookkeeper position, I thought that it would be the perfect fit for me," said Swope.

"Not only am I be able to utilize my finance skills, but I'm working for an organization that is part of the horse industry.

"It is an added bonus that I was already familiar with the company as well as everyone in the office from my internship."

Fallston native Remsberg, 24, received her associate's degree in agricultural business management from the Institute of Applied Agriculture at the University of Maryland, College Park in 2017 and recently graduated with a bachelor's degree in agricultural science and technology.

She has a diverse background in the agricultural industry – working on dairy, poultry, pork and vegetable farms, helping with deliveries at the Maryland State Fair Birthing Center, and focusing on crop science in a previous job at a gardening center while helping growers work through pest management issues. But her passion is horses.

Remsberg started riding as a child, and while in college taught riding lessons for UMD's Maryland Equestrian Club and at a horse camp in Potomac. Her new MHBA position allows her to combine her passion with skills as a planner and organizer.

"I was the president of an equestrian organization for a couple of years in college, and in doing so, learned that setting up meetings and managing tasks was genuinely one of my favorite things to do and the most valuable of my college experiences.

"I'm also the type of person that owns a million pens and highlighters and has multiple planners in use at once [all meticulously organized and color coded, of course], so I'm utterly thrilled to have an excuse to keep all that up.

"I never really planned on continuing an instructing career past graduation, so I'm glad I found a position that combines my love of organization and horses."

Weanling, broodmare lead way at Fasig-Tipton November

A graded stakes-winning filly carrying her first foal and a weanling filly by Uncle Mo brought $400,000 each to top the four Maryland-breds sold at the elite Fasig-Tipton November Sale Nov. 9 in Lexington, Ky.

Project Whiskey (hip 223), a daughter of Tapizar in foal to Nyquist, was purchased by Woodford Thoroughbreds out of the Taylor Made Sales Agency consignment.

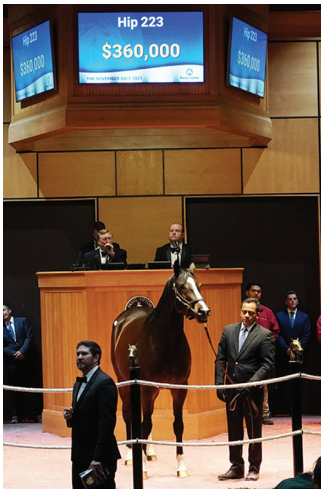
Cash is King and LC Racing raced Project Whiskey over two seasons, in which she recorded six on-the-board finishes in 11 starts and retired with earnings of $306,080. Her victories included the Delaware Oaks-G3 last year and the Parx Juvenile Fillies at 2. She was also second in the Monmouth Oaks-G3.

Cash is King's Chuck Zacney paid $35,000 for Project Whiskey at the 2018 Fasig-Tipton Midlantic fall yearling sale from breeder David and JoAnn Hayden's Dark Hollow Farm. She is out of Over the Moon (by Malibu Moon), a winning half-sister to graded winner and sire Ready's Image.

The Uncle Mo filly (hip 64), consigned by Scott Mallory, went to Glen Hill Farm. Bred by 2500 Determined Stud, she is the first foal out of Knarsdale, a stakes-placed daughter of Medaglia d'Oro purchased by Determined for $430,000 at last year's Keeneland November sale.

Stormy Atlantic's 11-year-old daughter Stormkeeper, in foal to Gun Runner, consigned by Ramsey Farm, went to Champion Equine for $280,000. Bred by Dark Hollow, Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Brown and Arnold Davidov out of stakes winner Touchnow (by Pleasant Tap), Stormkeeper sold for $100,000 at 2 and placed twice in three starts. Her first two foals, both winners, include 2020 Canadian champion female sprinter Artie's Princess.

Also selling for six figures was a weanling colt by Midshipman consigned by Ballysax Bloodstock, and purchased by Rexy Bloodstock for $145,000. Bred by Barlar, he is the 12th foal out of Di's Delight, a stakes-placed daughter of French Deputy. She is also the dam of Grade 1 winner Mirth (sold at last year's November sale for $1,050,000), 2021 graded stakes winner Vault, and stakes-placed juvenile Heat Dome.



Fasig-Tipton

Three other Maryland-breds failed to meet their reserves: a weanling filly by Into Mischief and a weanling colt by City of Light, both $285,000 consigned by Mallory, and stakes winner Naughty Thoughts ($190,000), in foal to Ghostzapper, from Green-Mount Farm's consignment.

Maryland breeding numbers remain steady in 2021

For the fourth year in a row, Maryland ranks sixth in the nation by mares covered by the state's stallions as reported in The Jockey Club's annual Report of Mares Bred statistics.

Reports were received for 25 stallions who were bred to 778 mares in 2021. The average book size was 31.1, second nationally behind only Kentucky.

This year's busiest Maryland stallions were Northview Stallion Station's Golden Lad with 77 and Uncle Lino (67), Anchor and Hope Farm's Holy Boss (65), followed by Northview's Hoppertunity (64) and Irish War Cry (56). Maryland's perennial leading sire, Northview's 21-year-old Great Notion, covered 49 mares.

Based on RMBs received through Oct. 18, The Jockey Club reports that 1,016 stallions covered 27,829 mares in North America during 2021, and estimates an additional 2,500 to 3,500 mares will be reported as bred during the 2021 breeding season.

Monmouth Park shows increases in total handle and on-track handle as 55-day meet comes to a close

Monmouth Park showed an increase in overall handle and nearly doubled its on-track handle for this year's 55-day meet compared to a year ago as the track concluded its 76th season.

"We were happy to have our fans back, we had another memorable TVG.com Haskell Invitational and we feel good about how Monmouth Park is positioned as we move forward and return to some sense of normalcy during these COVID-19 times," said Dennis Drazin, chairman and CEO of Darby Development, the operators of Monmouth Park. "This wound up being a transitional year coming out of the worst of COVID-19 a year ago. We overcame some challenging weather, especially early in the meet, purses were very good and the quality of racing was excellent."

Monmouth Park's overall handle for the meet was $173,511,161 compared to $167,511,608 a year ago. The return of fans had a significant impact, with the on-track handle increasing to $15,216,978 compared to $8,917,436 a year ago. The simulcast handle was down slightly from $158,594,172 in 2020 to $158,294,183 this year. Monmouth conducted 44 days of live racing a year ago.

Jockey Paco Lopez wrapped up his eighth Monmouth Park riding title with a flourish on the final card, Sept. 26, by booting home six winners to bring his final total to 109 for the meet. Runner-up Isaac Castillo had 55 winners. Lopez's eight titles are second in track history to Joe Bravo's 13.

Wayne Potts captured the training title with 38 wins after winning the abbreviated Meadowlands-at-Monmouth meet last fall.

Colts Neck Stables, with 14 winners from 34 starters, was the leading owner.

John Bowers Jr. honored as Breeder of the Year

John Bowers Jr. was named by the Thoroughbred Breeders and Owners Association (TOBA) as the 2020 Breeder of the Year in New Jersey. John was honored during TOBA's 36th Annual National Awards Dinner which was held at Hill 'n' Dale at Xalapa Sept. 11, 2021.

Horses bred by John Bowers won 10 of 77 starts and earned $671,971 in 2020. Among the successful runners John bred were Nashua Stakes-G3 winner Pickin' Time, who earned $193,025 during his 2-year-old season. Multiple stakes winner Royal Urn won the John J. Reilly Handicap, New Jersey Breeders Handicap and Dan Horn Handicap en route to earnings of $172,250 in 2020.

Pickin' Time was honored by the Thoroughbred Breeders' Association of New Jersey as champion 2-year-old. Royal Urn took home honors as champion older male and champion sprinter in 2020.

Third time's a charm for Prendimi in Maryland Million Classic

G.J. Stable's homebred and multiple stakes winner Prendimi sped to the lead and fended off 3-5 favorite Tappin Cat the length of the stretch for a gutsy neck victory in the $150,000 Maryland Million Classic at Laurel Park Oct. 23.

It was the first Maryland Million victory for trainer Luis Carvajal Jr., coming four years after his first career graded stakes triumph in the General George Stakes-G3 with Imperial Hint, who went on to win four Grade 1 races and more than $2.2 million.

"I'm happy to come back and win another one," Carvajal said. "Maybe I will [bring] some horses and stable here someday."

Under jockey Mychel Sanchez, Prendimi ($26.20) completed the distance in 1:50.46 over a fast main track in his third consecutive trip to the Classic. He finished second by a half-length to Forest Fire in 2019 and was last of seven behind Monday Morning Qb in 2020.

"The first time we got beat, [jockey] Paco Lopez beat me. He's my friend," Carvajal said. "The next time he ran, he ran a little poorly but we always had faith in him. He was training very good, so we came back and tried to get the money and we did."

Breaking from post 2 in the field of 8, Prendimi was sent to the front by Sanchez and led through a quarter-mile in :23.61 and a half in :46.84, with 25-1 long shot Ain't Da Beer Cold pressing the pace on his right hip. Prendimi went 6 furlongs in 1:11.16 as Ain't Da Beer Cold began to drop back and Tappin Cat picked up the chase in the clear three wide. The top two straightened for home together and ran side-by-side through the lane, but Tappin Cat was unable to get past.

"He wouldn't let him go by," Sanchez said. "He has some good speed. He's such a big horse and he's a grinder. He goes and goes and goes."

Tappin Cat, who entered the race on a three-race win streak, was three-quarters of a length ahead of The Poser in third. It was a half-length back to Torch of Truth in fourth followed by Dream Big Dreams, Crouchelli, Dashing Lou, and Ain't Da Beer Cold.

A 6-year-old gelding by Dances With Ravens, Prendimi is 6-9-5 in 30 starts with $472,005 in earnings. He is the lone stakes winner for his dam, the stakes-winning Tour d'Or mare Cigno D'Oro.

Prendimi also has won three stakes at Monmouth, including the Charles Hesse III Handicap in August 2020, his most recent victory.

President's message

Congratulations to all our members who had horses run during this reporting period. Many of them walked into the winner's circle.

On the sales front, Dan Shea with Shea D Boys Stables recently purchased a stunning colt, Hip 127, by Uncaptured—Hello Rosie, by Yes It's True. Shea D Boys Stables acquired the bay yearling colt at the OBS sale. Good luck!

I am looking forward to reporting on three North Carolina-bred fillies soon. Member Art Bauer is busy with his adorable Bauer's Golden Girl (Klimt—Girl On a Mission, by Noble Mission-GB), born in January; and Stylish Girlfriend (Friend Or Foe—She's Stylish, by Posse), born in April. Bauer's Golden Girl will run through the Keeneland sale in January. Art is considering racing his Friend Or Foe filly.

Another Bauer-bred filly, yearling Hartful Hope, is currently training with Kevin Kahkola in Camden, S.C. Member Gerald Eckhart owns this daughter of Central Banker out of She's Stylish.

Don't forget to nominate your horses for the 2021 Championship Awards and to keep your membership current. Memberships run from January through December.

Thanks so much for your support, and thanks also to Art Bauer and Shea D Boys Stable for allowing me to report their news and use their photos. /Rebecca

PA-BREDS SHINE AT THE RETIRED RACEHORSE PROJECT MAKEOVER

by Averie Levanti

With the 2020 Retired Racehorse Project Thoroughbred Makeover cancelled due to COVID-19, the 2021 edition returned with a "Mega Makeover" featuring the classes of 2020 and 2021. More than a thousand off-track Thoroughbreds competed in 10 different disciplines over the six-day event, including 25 Pennsylvania-breds.

After the preliminary rounds were completed, eight Pennsylvania-breds qualified for the finale, which welcomed back the top five finishers from each discipline for both 2020 and 2021. Five of nine PA-breds from the 2020 class qualified for the finale, while three 2021 entrants made the cut.

The most accomplished Pennsylvania-bred by race earnings in the Makeover was none other than millionaire Page

McKenney, who competed in the field hunter discipline. A 2010 chestnut gelding by Eavesdropper out of Winning Grace, by Yarrow Brae, bred by Dr. James Bryant and Linda Davis, Page McKenney started his racing career with his eventual Thoroughbred Makeover trainer and rider, Jazz Napravnik. After breaking his maiden and completing the first 14 races of his career for Napravnik, Page McKenney was claimed for $16,000 at Penn National and moved to the barn of Mary Eppler. Eppler would train Page for the final 44 races of his career.

Over the final five years of Page McKenney's racing career, he hit the board in 34 of 39 starts, won 15 stakes and placed in 14 others. His stakes victories included the Grade 3 General George Stakes at age 6 and Grade 3 Salvator Mile two years later. Retiring in August 2018, Page McKenney won 22 races with 16 seconds and five thirds from 58 career starts for earnings of $1,905,940. He is the ninth richest Pennsylvania-bred of all time.

Returned to the care of original trainer Jazz Napravnik for his second career, Page McKenney took up fox hunting. The pair posted an initial score of 295 points in the field hunter division to make the finale, where their final score of 381.50 earned them third place. Page was also given the Iron Horse Award for the class of 2020, awarded to the highest-scoring Makeover "iron horse"—those foaled in 2010 or earlier.

Competing in the 2020 class for polo was Barwin, a 2015 gray/roan gelding by Scipion out of Peleliu, by Kelly Kip, bred by Jodie Pointer. Competing the majority of his racing career with trainer Todd Beattie at Penn National, Barwin broke his maiden at the Grantville track on his third try. He would find the winner's circle twice more the following year after shipping to Mountaineer. His racing career concluded in December 2019 after two seasons with three wins, two seconds and one third from 19 starts for earnings of $29,135.

Competing under amateur rider Sara Kolenda, Barwin recorded a round score of 12.50 and a total score of 50.00 to finish second in the 2020 polo class. The pair also competed in barrel racing, finishing 16th.

The 2020 eventing class featured Promoted, a 2015 gray/roan gelding by Jump Start out of Smarter Sister, by Maria's Mon, bred, owned, and trained by Hall of Famer Jonathan Sheppard. Racing only in Pennsylvania, Promoted broke his maiden at Presque Isle Downs on second asking. He finished finish in the money eight other times over the all-weather track, retiring in November 2019 with one win, four

A few words from the Executive Secretary

As 2021 comes to a close, we hope that your year has somewhat stabilized and look forward to a fantastic 2022. The $200,000 Pennsylvania Nursery, to be held on Dec. 7 at PARX, is the last of 22 stakes races run for PA-Breds this year. It's that time of the year again when we get a chance to look at our new crop of 2yo's. The Nursery Stakes will be contested at 7 furlongs and should be a fantastic event. Hope to see you there!

Please remember, for the foal crop of 2022, broodmares must be in the state by Dec. 1, 2021, or within 14 days of a public sale (60 days of international sale) or breed back to a PA Sire. The domicile submission form is available online now at www.pabred.com/forms. If you cannot submit online, please call our office to make other arrangements. Please do not use an old form as they are changing this year.

Our Annual Stallion Directory will be published this month. Look for the QR code in the December issue of the BloodHorse or it can be viewed on pabred.com. All members will receive a hard copy when printed.

Online registration is up and running. If you did not get login credentials emailed to you, please contact our office. Go Pa!

seconds and four thirds from 15 career starts for earnings of $41,340.

With professional rider Lisbeth Storandt in the saddle, Promoted earned a round score of 240.69 en route to a final score of 300.47 to finish fifth in eventing for the class of 2020. Promoted will soon be offered for sale as a lower-level eventer.

Coming in hot in the 2020 barrel racing division was Monba Number Five, a 2013 gray/roan mare by Monba out of Nice Dilemma, by Silver Deputy, bred by DMD Thoroughbreds. Breaking her maiden first time out at Presque Isle Downs in 2016, Monba Number Five would go on to win three more races later that year at Mountaineer. She would win twice more at Mahoning Valley over the final few years of her career, retiring this past February with six wins, three seconds, and seven thirds in 39 starts for earnings of $51,285.

With professional Tessa Elton aboard, Monba Number Five recorded the leading score of 37.994 to enter the finale as the leader in the barrel racing division. Unable to best that score during the finale, she ultimately finished second overall. Since the Makeover, Monba Number Five has headed to Georgia and competed around barrels again.

Competing in the 2020 class for ranch work was Poised for Action, a 2013 bay gelding by Pure Prize out of A Little Action, by Quiet American, bred by John Penn. Purchased by John Servis for $35,000 as a 2-year-old, Poised for Action campaigned almost exclusively for Servis over a five-year racing career. With all five career victories coming at Parx, Poised for Action retired in June 2019 with five wins, four seconds, and four thirds in 34 starts for earnings of $206,718.

Mike Leverett, amateur rider, guided Poised for Action to a preliminary score of 105 points to secure the fifth and final spot in the ranch work finale. The pair improved their total score to 133 points to take home second-place honors in the event. Poised for Action also competed in competitive trail, finishing in eighth.

Barwin, Monba Number Five and Poised for Action all split the $2,500 prize for leading Pennsylvania-bred thanks to their runner-up efforts in their respective disciplines.

Making the class of 2021 finale in eventing was Gumdrop's Chiclet, a 2017 bay filly by Uptowncharlybrown out of Gumdrop, by Lemon Drop Kid, bred by Uptowncharlybrown Stud LLC. Owned by Uptowncharlybrown Stud LLC and campaigned by Ed Coletti Jr. during her racing career, Gumdrop's Chiclet's best effort was a third-place finish in her second career start. She would retire in November 2020 with earnings of $3,368.

Along with professional rider Kaitlin Hartford, Gumdrop's Chiclet recorded a 244.85 in the initial eventing round before improving her score to 311.13 in the finale, finishing fourth overall in the division. An incredibly versatile horse, Gumdrop's Chiclet also competed in barrel racing, finishing eighth.

Competing in the 2021 class for show hunting was Grand Blue Harbor, a 2014 bay mare by Rockport Harbor out of Grand Miz Blue, by Grand Slam, bred by Silver Trail Stable LLC. Grand Blue Harbor recorded her only victory as a 5-year-old at Parx, retiring in September 2020 with one win, six seconds, and eight thirds in 34 career starts for earnings of $82,424.

With professional rider Rachel McMahan aboard, Grand Blue Harbor earned a 174.50 initial score to make the show hunting finale, where she improved to 232.50 points to finish fourth.

The $2,500 prize for leading 2021 Pennsylvania-bred went to show jumper Aiken Prep, a 2011 bay gelding by Friends Lake out of Dark Plume, by Labeeb, bred, owned and trained during his racing career by Glenn Thompson. Aiken Prep broke his maiden at Parx and recorded three additional victories at the track. He retired at the age of 9 in August 2020 with four wins, nine seconds and three thirds from 62 career starts and earnings of $241,467.

Competing under professional rider Emma Ayre, Aiken Prep recorded 164 points in the preliminary round before posting a final score of 237.50 to secure second place in the show jumping division. Aiken Prep was the Iron Horse Award winner for the class of 2021. Also competing in eventing, the gelding finished sixth overall, and looks to continue eventing and show jumping events in the future. He has since competed at the Virginia Horse Trials.

In his previous two starts he proved best in Saratoga's Alydar Stakes and the Grade 2 Charles Town Classic. Travis Durr prepared Art Collector for his racing career at the Webb Carroll Training Center. This 4-year-old colt pushed his career earnings to $1,535,305.

Ready to Purrform, who learned his early lessons under the watchful eye of Franklin "Goree" Smith at his Elloree Training Center, trailed the field for a half-mile, circled his competition during the next half-mile and ran away inside the eighth-pole to win the Laurel Futurity by 3½ lengths. It was the 2-year-old Kitten's Joy colt's second win in two starts.

British Royalty faced a full field of 12 in the Breeders' Stakes at Woodbine Oct. 3. Also a graduate of Durr's program, British Royalty raced in midpack in this 1½ mile turf race before starting his rally with a half-mile to go. While racing in traffic, he took over in the stretch and crossed the finish line 4 lengths clear of the rest.

Robbie and Cynthia Shuler had big smiles on their faces on the night of Oct. 9. Four horses they broke won four stakes in a row at Charles Town. Penguin Power took the lead soon after the start in the West Virginia Thoroughbred Breeders Association Onion Juice Breeders Classic and never looked back. As the favorite, he showed he was best trouncing the field by 3½ lengths.

Thirty minutes later, in the West Virginia Cavada Breeders Classic Stakes, Star of Night broke a step slow before gradually overtaking the nine in front of her. In a hard-fought stretch duel, she came out on top by three-quarters of a length. This was her eighth straight victory. In 12 career starts, Star of Night has 10 wins and two second place finishes.

Muad'dib has been the best in all eight of his career starts. He captured his second stakes in the West Virginia Breeders Classic after taking Charles Town's Frank Gall Memorial Stakes in August. He sat off the flank of the leader before moving up with 3 furlongs to go. In the stretch, he proved best winning by 2¼ lengths.

Stowe Angel capped off the night for Shuler Stables breaking program being much the best in the West Virginia Roger Ramey Breeders Classic Distaff. She was fourth while racing on the inside for the opening 6 furlongs before angling out and taking over the lead in the stretch. At the wire, she was 6¾ lengths clear of the field.

On Oct. 12, Rock On Luke was a gate-to-wire winner of the M.P. Ballezzi Appreciation Mile Stakes at Parx Racing. A graduate of Randy and Kala Rentz's breaking program, he broke from the outside post position in a field of 10. He was able to scamper over to the rail and dictated the pace throughout, drawing away in the stretch to reach the finish line 5½ lengths in front.

Fasig-Tipton Timonium Sale

South Carolinians were active at the Fasig-Tipton Timonium Yearling Sale Oct. 4-5. Both Cary Frommer and James Layden brought six home. Cary bought colts by Twirling Candy, Frosted, Mor Spirit and Union Rags. She signed the ticket for fillies by Unified and Nyquist.

James Layden came home with colts by Practical Joke, Cloud Computing and Uncle Lino. Accompanying them are fillies by Golden Lad, Uncle Lino and Irish War Cry.

Hammy Smith, the brother of Goree Smith, sent a colt by Divining Rod and a filly by Madefromlucky to his brother's Elloree Training Center to be broke.

Jason McCutchen picked up a colt by Hopportunity to be broke at the McCutchen Training Center in Kingstree and Kip Elser has a colt by Twirling Candy who will call Kirkwood Stables in Camden home this winter.

Debut Winners

South Carolina training centers were represented with a handful of 2-year-old debut winners during the last two weeks of September and first few weeks of October.

Shuler Stables' grad Ryan's Sword broke his maiden first time out at Charles Town on Sept. 25, winning by 5½ lengths. He came back to finish third in the West Virginia Vincent Moscarelli Memorial Breeders Classic in October.

Travis Durr's Webb Carroll Training Center was represented by a trio of debut winners. On Sept. 29, Last Romance proved best at Delaware Park by 1¼ lengths. A pair

Fine Family won her debut performance at Churchill Downs Oct. 1 by a hard fought head. She learned her early lessons at "Goree" Smith's Elloree Training Center.

On the 3-year-old front, Rentz Training Center's former student, Sunshine Max, was best of the rest in his first career start. He finished 5¼ lengths in front of his field at Penn National Oct. 12.

VIRGINIA

Results From Virginia Thoroughbred Association's Annual Yearling Futurity at the Warrenton Horse Show Grounds

The annual Virginia Thoroughbred Association Yearling Futurity took place September 8th at the Warrenton Horse Show Grounds under clear skies and comfortable temperatures with $35,000 in prize monies on the line.

Four divisions were contested ---- Virginia-bred colts/geldings and fillies, and Virginia-Certified colts/geldings and fillies. The top two finishers from each returned to compete for Grand Champion and Reserve Champion honors.

Djuric Sporthorses LLC, Anna M. Simms DVM and Patrick Nuesch's dark bay Certified filly by Outwork took Grand Champion honors shortly after winning the Certified/Fillies class, final category of the morning's festivities. The victorious filly is out of Tanguerray by Good Journey.

Runner-up in the Certified Fillies class was an unnamed bay by Golden Lad out of Any Given Chance, owned by Joan Fontana. Third place went to Run Around Slew, a bay filly owned by Quest Realty and Daniel Wukich. She is by Practical Joke out of St. Louie Slew by Flower Alley. Rounding out the class in order was Even Smarter (DMC Racing/Diana McClure), Rosie's Lime Juice (Kathleen Hamlin), She's a Brickhouse (Kathleen Hamlin) and an unnamed filly by Bal a Bali (Joan Fontana).

Reserve Champion title went to breeder/owner Susan Cooney's unnamed colt by Mucho Macho Man out of Leva Mae by Emancipator, who kicked things off earlier by winning the Virginia-bred/sired colt/gelding class.

Runner-up in that category was My Friend Paddy, a bay colt by Friend or Foe out of Banco Banner by Parker's Storm Cat bred and owned by Renee Bourke. Quest Realty and Daniel Wukich's grey colt Here's Liam took third. He is by Liam's Map out of Stay Here by Dehere. The remaining finishers in order were Rufflesnflourishes (Helen Masek), Thank Ya Pete (Doug Daniels), Karma's Inthehouse (DMC Racing Stables/Diana McClure), and Risengold (Quest Realty/Daniel Wukich).

Phyllis Jones' chestnut Friendly Teller prevailed in the Virginia-bred/sired fillies division. She is by Friend or Foe out of Money Chaser by Central Banker. Althea Richards' bay filly Rose Valland finished second and a Morgan's Ford Farm unnamed bay filly was third. The former is by Creative Cause out of For Finery by Not For Love while the latter is by Midnight Lute out of Skipalong by Include.

The remainder in order were an unnamed bay by Malibu Moon (Morgan's Ford Farm), Carolina Hideaway (Susan Cooney) followed by four unnamed fillies --- a dark bay by Jump Start (Carlos Moore & Gillian Gordon-Moore), a grey by Cross Traffic (Patricia Ramey), a chestnut by Lea (Andy & Becky Lavin) and a chestnut by Country Day (Matthew Keneley, Josh & Andrea Whitney).

Joan Fontana's bay colt by Bal a Bali took the blue ribbon in the Virginia-Certified colt/gelding class. The winner is out of the Elusive Quality mare, Buttermilk. An unnamed bay by Madefromlucky walked away with the red ribbon. The runner-up, out of Kokand Cousin by Kokand, is owned by Susan Cooney. Shade Tree Corner, owned by Tim Hulings and Analia Larossa, finished third (Friesan Fire - Birch Circuit - Jiggs Coz). Following the trio was an unnamed bay by Speightster (Djuric Sporthorses LLC/Anna M. Simms DVM, Patrick Nuesch), The Last Jumpstart (Joan Fontana), an unnamed chestnut by Golden Years (S.E.A. Industries), Hoppertunitystrikes (Diana McClure) and Motor (Quest Realty/Daniel Wukich).

Virginia's Fall Steeplechase Meet Schedule Concludes

Virginia's annual round of fall sanctioned steeplechase events was greeted by the return of enthusiastic crowds at each stop. Only two fall meets were held last year due to the Covid pandemic and the pair that did run were contested spectator-free.

The Foxfield Fall Races took place in Charlottesville October 3 followed by the Middleburg Fall Races at Glenwood Park October 9, the International Gold Cup at Great Meadow in The Plains on October 23 and the Montpelier Hunt Races in Montpelier Station on November 6.

A 2022 slate of Point-to-Point meets and NSA sanctioned spring meets will be announced in the coming days and can be accessed at centralentryoffice.com.

VTA Recognizes 2019 & 2020 Champions at Colonial Downs on Closing Day

Since the Covid-pandemic prevented the VTA's annual awards presentation from taking place during Gold Cup weekend the past two years, awards for both seasons were instead doled out on closing day of the Colonial Downs '21 season.

2020 Virginia-bred winners included Kenny had a Notion (2 YO Male champ), Finite (VA-Owned champ), Mr, Buff (VA-Sired champ) Curve of Stones (VTA Co-Horse of the Year/Over Fences champ), Largent (VTA Co-Horse of the Year/Older Horse champ), Attachment Rate (3 YO Male champ) and Virginia Beach (3 YO Filly champ). Street Lute was named Virginia-Certified champ, Neil Morris was named Virginia-based Trainer of the Year for the second straight campaign, and Lazy Lane Farms LLC was recognized as Virginia Breeder of the Year.

West Virginia Breeders Classics XXXV

Monarchy's in athletics often fail a transference of talents into secondary sports or subsidiary commercial enterprises.

However, West Virginia's native son, Sam Huff, NFL Hall of Fame legend and founder of the West Virginia Breeders Classics, made significant contributions to both kingdoms he reigned over and could be touted as savior to the racing/breeding industries in his beloved Mountain State.

The 35th edition of Sam Huff and Carol Holden's inspirational production, held Oct. 9 at Hollywood Casino at Charles Town Races, boasted some of the states most distinguished horses, while witnessing record-breaking human performances.

With $1 million in purses on the line, the evening highlighted Charles Town regulars, owner David Raim (5 wins with 5 starters), trainer Jeff Runco (7 wins on the card) and jockey Arnaldo Bocachica (winner of 8 out 9 races).

WEST VIRGINIA BREEDERS CLASSIC

Muad'dib entered the $300,000 guaranteed Classic with an unblemished record, however questions lingered as to his ability to go an unfamiliar 1⅛ mile distance over the iconic three-quarter mile oval.

Competing on the crisp fall night, the son of Fiber Sonde out of Holy Pow Wow, bred by John D McKee, left those in attendance with a performance they'll recall for years.

Racing unimpeded in the two-path throughout much of the race, Muad'dib bellied down once into the stretch and left no questions as to his divisional superiority.

The colossal 4-year-old gelding, with proven form and untapped potential, takes over as big man on campus in the Runco stable, as post-race news revealed third place finisher North Atlantic ($719,454) was hanging-up his racing plates for retirement.

Owned by David Raim, trained by Jeff Runco and ridden by Arnaldo Bocachica, Muad'dib passed his ultimate test on the star-studded night.

WEST VIRGINIA 'CAVADA' BREEDERS CLASSIC

Star of Night, a 4-year-old daughter of Creative Cause out of Splendiferous Moon, broke a tad flat from post position 10, fortuitously sat off a ruinous pace and as choreographed chaos unfolded around her, accelerated late to prevail by three-quarters of a length under a brilliant ride by Arnaldo Bocachica.

Last year's WVTBA Horse of the Year, and now back-to-back Cavada winner, is rapidly becoming a folk hero in the Charles Town distaff family.

Bred by Heinz J. Steinmann and racing in his Huntertown Farm LLC colors, the gray/roan filly trained by Jeff Runco always seems to find another gear when tested, reminiscent of a quality individual.

WEST VIRGINIA DASH FOR CASH BREEDERS CLASSIC

Hypothesis has an overall mark of 22-10-5-1, with earnings of $313, 023.

Anecdotal opinion asserts, with nine wins and three seconds at 4½ furlongs, that should remain his preferred distance.

Bred by Francis W. Daniel III and owned by Jill Daniel, the 4-year-old son of Algorithms out of Ideal Thoughts is conditioned by master horsewoman Crystal Pickett.

The intramural speed squabble boasted rivals Laughing Cat, Golden Key and Aaron's Tap.

The bay gelding, who is now a two-time Breeders Classic winner (having taken the Moscarelli Memorial Breeders Classic at 2) was handled by Eclipse Award winner Jose Montano.

WEST VIRGINIA TRIPLE CROWN NUTRITION BREEDERS CLASSIC

The Sky is Falling entered Breeders Classics night as a bit of a wild card, and certainly appeared overlooked by the betting public, going off at odds of 9-1, the third choice behind 1-5 favorite Fancy Her Up.

After a compelling debut in September, the daughter of Cupid and the Half Ours mare Miss Henny Penny tossed in a clunker behind winner Fancy Her Up in the Rachel's Turn Stakes when compromised at the break.

In the speed-rich Triple Crown Nutrition, the David Raim-owned Jeff Runco trainee rebounded from her lackluster effort and burst on the scene late to complete her crime-level mutuel payout ($20.60).

Catherine K. Jennings and Scott Mallory earned a berth on the dais of accomplishments by breeding the winners of two races on the "Night of Champions," with Door Buster yet to come.

WEST VIRGINIA VINCENT MOSCARELLI MEMORIAL BREEDERS CLASSIC

Run to Daylight crystallized the division leadership with a career best Beyer figure while continuing a flawless 2-year-old campaign.

Cranked up by trainer Jeff Runco for his best effort to date, the son of Runhappy – with the physique of a deity – mastered being impeded leaving the starting gate to loop the field and win under wraps.

The bay gelding out of Daylight's Coming was bred by James F. Miller.

Owned by David Raim and ridden by Arnaldo Bocachica, Run to Daylight stood out in the paddock presentation, a space reserved for the privileged in appearance.

WEST VIRGINIA TOURISM OFFICE BREEDERS CLASSIC

Door Buster, fresh from a nail-biter in the Sylvia Bishop Memorial in August when racing room wasn't secured until the top of the lane, has blossomed into a winning machine since the addition of blinkers.

The 3-year-old daughter of Speighster out of Miss Henny Penny is owned by Jay Reese and conditioned by Ollie Figgins III.

Door Buster is 5-of-8 with the hood on, bankrolling over $192,000.

Bred by Catherine K. Jennings and Scott Mallory, the bay filly was handled by jockey Arnaldo Bocachica, subbing for the injured Denis Araujo.

WEST VIRGINIA LOTTERY BREEDERS CLASSIC

Social Chic has quietly assumed a leadership role in the 3-year-old male category through tenacity and consistency.

The son of Upstart out of Tres Chic has never finished off the board in 11 starts for owner Smart Angle LLP.

As the racing season winds down, successive stakes wins are a tribute to a genuine pillar of the West Virginia breeding community, James F. Miller.

Trained by Jeff Runco, the rail-skimming ride was courtesy of triumphant jockey Arnaldo Bocachica.

WEST VIRGINIA 'ONION JUICE' BREEDERS CLASSIC

Penguin Power had only three starts in 2021 before his Onion Juice effort and many loyal fans doubted the sprinter's ability to successfully defend his reigning title (2019-2020 victor) in that contest.

The son of Fiber Sonde out of Aye Robbin still had one undiscovered gem lurking in his 6-year-old body, and it embodied this year's Breeders Classic theme, "excitement right out of the gate."

Owned by David Raim and trained by Jeff Runco, the chestnut gelding was born and raised at John and Cyndy McKee's Beau Ridge Farm.

WEST VIRGINIA ROGER RAMEY BREEDERS CLASSIC DISTAFF

Stowe Angel has been a handicapping puzzle ever since she dominated males in last year's Robert Leavitt Memorial Stakes.

Having never run farther than 7 furlongs, the daughter of Warrior's Reward out of Lido Lady bred by Newbourne Farm could have withered on the vine. Instead the David Raim-owned runner showed major stamina and coasted home by 6¾ lengths going 1⅛ miles.

Prepared by trainer Jeff Runco, Stowe Angel was the icing on the cake on a night of unbelievable achievements for Raim, Runco and Bocachica, who experienced the rides of a lifetime.

The modern world poses new challenges daily to our sport, but the West Virginia Breeders Classics has met the demands and continues to be more than up to the task!

A Life well-lived

Sara Collette's small-time steeplechase program produced winners at every level and fulfilled the dream of every owner-breeder

By Betsy Burke Parker

The obituary in the local newspaper is complete, of course, well-written and respectful. But if you knew Virginia-based Thoroughbred owner-breeder Sara Collette at all – even just by reputation, it smacks a little flat.

It's a two-dimensional chronicle of this pixie-sized, multi-dimensional force of nature.

Yes, Sara Collette was 86 when she died Oct. 11, yes she bred two Virginia Gold Cup winners, yes she hunted with Casanova, yes she leaves behind her husband of 66 years, an assortment of survivors and a farm she loved.

But the rote write-up of her life didn't capture the vivacity of Sara Collette's ardent support of her beloved homebreds over nearly 35 years on the racecourse. It doesn't express her enthusiasm following the second careers of Pageland-breds that went on to excel in other disciplines. And it definitely doesn't reveal the grace with which she handled the final chapter of her life.

To hear Sara Collette's story – from her childhood in New York with adoptive parents and a horse she adored as a teen, to that time she allowed a handsome Cornell classmate to lug her luggage dozens of city blocks as they fruitlessly searched for a non-existent address – is an inspiring narrative of an ordinary person that lived an extraordinary life.

First, the end

Like any well-ordered obituary, as in life, there's a beginning, a middle and an end.

Sara Collette's story is no different.

We already know the end of her tale:

Sara and Bruce Collete ©Douglas Lees

Healthy almost all of her 86 years, the past 12 months were tough on her, rough on her family and hell on Bruce.

She had Parkinson's disease, and it made her frail and weak. She was good – great, even, until the last year or so, Bruce says. But the last year was hard.

Bruce says he was all but housebound along with Sara, caregiving and catering to his wife as their evening strolls shrunk from walking the entire length of their long farm driveway, visiting horses in adjacent pastures as they went, to walking halfway, then a quarter-way, then around the porch, then to just looking out the window.

It made her sad. It made him sad. But that's just how it was, the new normal as they adjusted to the unfairness of old age.

She died Oct. 11 at her home on Pageland Farm near tiny Casanova, Virginia. She'd hoped to go to the Oct. 9 Virginia Fall Races at Glenwood Park, but she was just too weak. "She wanted to watch (homebred) Eryx. She loved all her horses, so much. It was so much a part of her.

"After me and our daughters, horses were the biggest part of her life."

Sara and Bruce were fixtures on the circuit, paddockside and railside when their horses were running. She knew horses and she knew bloodlines. She personally researched pedigrees and nicks to select the best matches for her program.

"A lot of thought went into it," says trainer Madison Meyers, who has the last homebred Sara Collette saw race – Eryx. "She bred exactly for what she wanted – jumpers. She didn't breed for the flat track and hope they'd get a second career as a steeplechase horse.

"Her horses could be late-maturing, which wouldn't interest a lot of people. Every one of them with big, open gallops and most were very good jumpers.

"You'd say that makes her a success in the breeding industry, no matter what level. You breed for what you want, and you get it."

Virginia Steeplechase Association secretary and race-caller Will O'Keefe echoes the appreciation for the Pageland program. "Sara was the epitome of a small (scale) Virginia breeder," O'Keefe says. "The most incredible example of her breeding program was Zanclus, who won the Virginia Gold Cup in 2018 – Sara not only bred the dam (Jordani) but also bred the sire (Xenodon)."

That's a triple-play even mega-successful, large-scale, world-famous owner-breeders Paul Mellon and George Strawbridge haven't replicated.

Though he was sold to Irv Naylor as a timber prospect after failing to impress over hurdles, the Collettes also bred Salmo

(as well as Salmo's dam, Melantha), 2007 and 2009 Virginia Gold Cup winner.

How it began

Sara Elizabeth Foster was born March 1, 1935, in New Haven, Oswego County, New York.

She studied anthropology at Cornell University, and it was there that she met her future husband, Bruce Collette.

Bruce tells the amusing tale of how they sparked. It took a bit of work on his part.

"Sara's roommate was some sort of zoologist, and I was studying herpetology, so we of course knew each other," Bruce recalls. "So, my roommate had a car, and he was always wanting to load up with passengers to help pay for the gas.

"My parents lived on Long Island, and Sara's mother lived downtown, so that was an easy sell. I remember one trip there, Sara and I were in the backseat, talking the whole way. When we got into town, it seemed gallant to offer to walk her home.

"I was lugging her suitcase, blocks and blocks while we tried to find the new address of her mother.

"We finally found it, but that was a long walk."

But, evidently, it sealed the deal.

Back at Cornell, Sara and Bruce started going steady. They'd study together in the evenings, and it was then that Bruce realized Sara was more than just a pretty face.

"I'd get through a single page of whatever book I was studying, and I'd hear 'flip, flip, flip' of Sara going through pages and pages. She was just like that – so smart, and a really good student," Bruce says.

On weekends, sometimes they'd attend polo matches; Bruce understood that horses might play a role in their future life. Sara had a horse through high school, and took riding back up after they graduated and married in 1956.

They filled their first home with love, Bruce says, and soon, with three daughters. But money was tight in the beginning.

"When I'd proposed to Sara, I said, 'now look, I'm never going to have much money because I'm going to study animals,' but, somehow, it didn't work out like that," Bruce explains. A few years later, he inherited stock in Esso (now Exxon) when his father died, something he says helped fund their future horse involvement.

After Bruce earned his PhD, the young family moved to Washington, D.C., and he went to work at the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, then located in the Smithsonian.

"One day, I thought I had a brilliant idea," Bruce recalls spinning the family into the next chapter of their lives. "So, we're paying to board this horse, and she had to drive to go ride. Why don't we just move a little farther out of the city, I said, buy a farm and save some money.

"Ha."

Horse legacy

The Collettes purchased Pageland Farm in the mid-1970s. Near neighbors included Thoroughbred breeding establishments Spring Hill Farm and Buckland Farm. That, and the fact that Casanova Hunt huntsman Tommy Lee Jones and his father both had racehorses played a role in the Collettes getting involved in racing.

Sara hunted with Casanova, but she hurt her back and decided to get a mare in foal as a diversion. They purchased Flower Bow via agent Mike Hughes at the Ocala mixed sale.

The daughter of Russian-bred Zabeg was in foal to Cruise On In. She became their foundation mare.

Though the Cruise On In foal never got to the track, Flower Bow produced jump winners Genghis, Yadkin and Melantha. Melantha in turn produced Salmo, who went on to win two Virginia Gold Cups for Irv Naylor.

"I marveled at her breeding theory," Bruce says, remembering how Sara would spend hours, days, weeks researching pedigrees and determining cover sires for her broodmares. Bruce's main role was naming the foals. He chose Latin genus names. "A different letter of the alphabet every time," he says. "I think we went through the alphabet three times. That's a lot of foals."

Though Sara is gone, Bruce says her legacy lives on. Homebred Eryx (a full brother to Zanclus) raced at the October International Gold Cup meet, and there's a 2022 foal on the way. Getaway is a daughter of Skip Away. She's in foal on a May cover to West Virginia stallion Golden Years. "We'll see what we get," he says. "I wish Sara was here to see it, too."

Bruce says it's weird, being without Sara after all those years. The house feels empty, especially this week after his daughters went home to their own families and lives, and most of his colleagues have stopped dropping in.

"It's quiet," he says. "We've got the urn with her ashes. At her wishes, we'll spread them on the front field out here next spring.

"She wants to be part of Pageland forever.

"And she will be."

Tara Elmore kept Virginia Gold Cup winner Salmo in his retirement. "I have tons of good stories about that amazing soul," Elmore says of her years with the big chestnut. Salmo was by Northern Baby out of Collette foundation mare Flower Bow. "When Salmo was 4, I saw him at Middleburg. I walked up to Sara – I was a kid, and I said I was going to own him one day.

"She looked at me and smiled and said 'then he could have both of our hearts.'

"We always talked of him after that, and she'd always tear up asking about him. I'd do the same, and we'd stand there crying at the races! She loved her horses."

Looking Back

50 years ago

■ Martie Jenney's 4-year-old Maryland-bred Inkslinger won the second running of American steeplechasing's richest race, the $100,000 Colonial Cup in Camden, S.C., giving trainer D. Michael "Mikey" Smithwick a perfect record in the race. He sent out Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Top Bid to victory in 1970.

Jenney's soon-to-be ex-husband Marshall Jenney purchased Inkslinger for his wife out of the Timonium Eastern Fall Yearling sale for $5,500 three years earlier. Sent to trainer Jonathan Sheppard, Inkslinger failed to win twice on the flat, but proved a rising star over jumps when winning six in a row at 3, three stakes, and was named the nation's top 3-year-old hurdler. Smithwick took over his training early in 1971, and was always quick to say that Sheppard "made Inkslinger."

The first winner of a $100,000 stakes bred by Glade Valley Farm, Inkslinger was named Maryland-bred champion steeplechaser a record five times, from 1970-1974. From 1972 until his retirement in 1974 he raced in Europe before returning home to become a foxhunter for his owner, Martie Symington Sanger, who had since remarried.

■ An agreement was reached to transfer stallions Kauai King and Royal Gunner from Sagamore Farm in Maryland to Reg Day's Hamilton Stud in Newmarket, England for the 1972 breeding season.

Inkslinger (far right) battles Soothsayer after landing the last fence of the 1971 Colonial Cup while the previous year's winner Top Bid is shown in mid-air.

Both horses were raced, and later syndicated, by Mike Ford, and entered stud at Sagamore in 1967.

Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner Kauai King, a son of Sagamore's sire Native Dancer and his richest earner, was foaled at Sagamore in 1963. Ford reported that the trip to England "was a one-year agreement which may or may not be extended."

Kauai King never returned to the States. He was purchased by Japanese interests two years later and spent the remainder of his life in Japan until his death on Jan. 24, 1989, at age 26.

■ The editorial "A Peculiarly American Tragedy" by Snowden Carter turned the spotlight on steeplechase racing in the U.S.

"Way back in 1944 a cub reporter for the Baltimore Sun wrote an article for The Maryland Horse that was titled 'In Defense of Steeplechasing.' Twenty-seven years have passed. The Sun's cub reporter is now the gray-haired editor of The Maryland Horse. About the only thing that hasn't changed is steeplechasing's struggle for survival.

"When the New York Racing Association announced last month that there would be no steeplechases in 1972 at either Belmont or Aqueduct, the game's survival became, at best, dubious.

"So what will they do with Inkslinger, Soothsayer, Top Bid, et al? Keep them for 20 days at Saratoga and the Colonial Cup?

"If I had a jumper, I'd send him abroad. Then after America has all its forests bulldozed, its land paved for highways and its racing reduced to five-furlong sprints for 2-year-olds, I'd sit back in my chair in England, Ireland or France and say: 'Damn it, America, you asked for it, and I hope you like what you got.'"

■ Peace Chance, the first proven sire to come to Maryland in years, would stand at Merryland Farm in Hyde, Md., for $500 in 1947. The 1934 Belmont Stakes winner had already sired the winners of such races as the Widener and Brooklyn Handicaps and the Arlington Lassie Stakes and had progeny earnings over $1 million. The 15-year-old stallion was owned by a syndicate consisting of William Labrot, Danny Shea and Ray Bryson.

■ Highlights of the highly successful 13-day meeting put on by the Maryland Jockey Club at Pimlico were Assault's decisive score over Stymie in the Pimlico Special, which sealed Horse of the Year honors; Jet Pilot winning the Pimlico Futurity; the one-two performance of Fervent and Faultless in the Walden Stakes for Calumet Farm; and Polynesian's victory in the Riggs.

■ Cannaday Farm in Sparks, Md., owned by Henry Salsbury and managed throughout its history by G. Harry Cannaday, was sold to Hirsch Jacobs and Isidor Bieber. "Whether or not the farm will become the permanent home of the great horse Stymie is a question that is intriguing Maryland breeders greatly," it was reported. Harry Cannaday would stay on "for the time being" as manager.

■ Cigar recorded his final victory when defending his title in the Woodward Stakes-G1 at Belmont Park, his first race since finishing second in the Pacific Classic-G1 at Del Mar. It was the Maryland-bred's 15th stakes win (11 Grade 1s) and set him up for a bid for a second Breeders' Cup Classic-G1, his final start.

However the long campaigns seemed to finally catch up with "America's Horse" as he lost three of his last four starts after winning 16 straight over nearly two years. In his final two races he missed by a neck to Skip Away while giving weight in the Jockey Club Gold Cup-G1, and was third in a tight photo in the Breeders' Cup Classic-G1.

Cigar topped the Thoroughbred Racing Communications poll of leading racehorses every week for two years. Allen Paulson's 6-year-old retired as the richest Thoroughbred in history with earnings of $9,999,815 and was a lock to retain his title as Horse of the Year.

■ The public was invited to help celebrate the 250th anniversary of the arrival of the English stallion Spark and the filly Queen Mab at Belair Mansion and Belair Stables in Maryland. The two horses—gifts from Lord Baltimore to his esteemed friend, Maryland Gov. Samuel Ogle—were the first documented English Thoroughbreds in the new world when they arrived at Belair in April 1747.

■ T. V. Commercial, a holdover from Windfields Farm's glory days, died of natural causes at Northview Stallion Station at age 31. The pensioner had been a fixture in Cecil County, Md., since 1972, the year he arrived at Woodstock Farm.

The sire of 28 stakes winners including noted sire It's Freezing, T. V. Commercial stood his final season in 1988. He spent his entire Maryland stud career in Woodstock Farm's stallion barn, and was moved to the main stallion barn at Windfields to accompany Northern Dancer when that farm closed its doors in 1989. Northern Dancer died in the fall of 1990.

■ Eighttofasttocatch—one of four Maryland Million Day winners sired by Northview Stallion Station's Not For Love on the card—gave trainer Tim Keefe his first Classic score, and provided owners Sylvia and Arnold Heft their first Maryland Million victory. On a cold, rainy day, the event drew 20,907 spectators.

Not For Love swept the Classic as his sons Cactus Charlie and Not Abroad finished second and third. The state's leading sire also had wins with Love That Dance (Distaff), Love's Blush (Ladies) and Brushed By Love (Oaks). It was the second time in three years that he tied the single-day record on the program, first set by Rollicking in 1988 and matched by Allen's Prospect in 2000. The 21-year-old son of Mr. Propector shot to the top of the Maryland Million leaderboard with 25 wins, three more than Allen's Prospect.

■ The West Virginia Breeders Classics celebrated its 25th renewal, and Mark Russell's 5-year-old gelding Russell Road put an exclamation point on the event as he thundered to victory for the second time in three years in the featured $500,000 West Virginia Breeders Classic. The son of former Pennsylvania sire Wheaton also became racing's newest millionaire.

Silver Heart repeated her year-older full-sister Aspenglow's triumph in the $250,000 West Virginia Jefferson Security Bank Cavada Breeders Classic for fillies and mares. Owner and co-breeder Nancy Terhune had faith in her filly. "Silver Heart deserves her turn. Now she's had it. Nobody deserves attention more than this horse, believe me."

Silver Heart out-earned her sister, $596,824 to $465,698, and is the dam of stakes winner Emboldon. Aspenglow produced multiple stakes winner Shimmering Aspen.

■ Pennsylvania-bred Plum Pretty, based in California with trainer Bob Baffert, returned to her home state and cruised to victory in Parx Racing's $750,000 Cotillion Stakes-G2, pushing her earnings to $1,296,700 in nine starts. The win was her first since the Kentucky Oaks-G1 in May.

Foaled at Mark Reid's Walnut Green in West Grove, Pa., the Medaglia d'Oro filly was bred by Silent Indy Stables LLC and raced for John Fort's Peachtree Stable.

■ Delaware Gov. Jack Markell declared Oct. 15 "Havre de Grace Day" in honor of the nation's top-ranked Thoroughbred. A product of the Delaware Certified Program (she spent the required 90 days at Herb and Ellen Moelis' CandyLand Farm in Middletown), Rick Porter's 4-year-old filly was stabled for most of the year at Delaware Park with trainer Larry Jones. She won the track's Obeah Stakes-G3 in June, was beaten a nose by Blind Luck in the Delaware Handicap-G2 in July, and rebounded to defeat males in the Woodward-G1 at Saratoga, then tacked on a win in Belmont's Grade 1 Beldame.

■ A trimmed-down catalogue at the Fasig-Tipton Midlantic Eastern Fall Yearling sale saw the average rise, buybacks drop and the median jump 73 percent over the previous year. Eight yearlings sold for six figures, led by a Hard Spun colt from Paramount Sales for $200,000, purchased by Bradley Thoroughbreds as a pinhook prospect.

The sales topper was a pinhooking home run after he sold for $870,000 the next March at the Fasig-Tipton Florida sale and was sent to England.

■ The National Sporting Library's inaugural art exhibition in its new sporting art museum opened in October, and Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred contributor Sean Clancy took it in on a lazy Sunday afternoon. His review? "Put away your phone. Take an afternoon. Slow down. Go."

In Male Lines and Stud Records, progeny are arranged in order by champions, Grade 1 winners then stakes winners by earnings.

NOTICE: The eligibility status of stallions nominated to national or state breeders' programs (Breeders' Cup, Maryland Million, etc.) is dependent on the nominators' compliance with conditions, rules and regulations of those programs. Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred cannot assume responsibility for nominators' compliance with these regulations. Mare owners are advised to confirm eligibility with the stallion owners.

DOSAGE

Dosage is explained as follows by Dr. Steve Roman, preeminent authority on the dosage system, a mathematical method of measuring a horse's inclination toward speed or stamina based on the chefs-de-race, or influential sires, in his pedigree.

" 'Chefs' are assigned to one or two of five aptitudinal groups (Brilliant, Intermediate, Classic, Solid and Professional) covering the spectrum (from left to right) of speed to endurance. We assign a total potential value of 16 points to each generation. Since there are, progressively, one, two, four and eight sires in the first four generations, 'chefs' which appear among these sires will contribute 16, 8, 4 and 2 points each as we work back. The points for all 'chefs' present are then tallied in the appropriate aptitude columns. 'Chefs' which confer two aptitudinal characteristics have their points split between the two aptitudes. In the end, the total points in each column produce the Dosage Profile, a series of five numbers which reflect the relative proportions of each of the five aptitudes in this order: Brilliant-Intermediate-Classic-Solid-Professional.

"The ratio of points in the speed wing (Brilliant points + Intermediate points + ½ the Classic points) to points in the stamina wing (½ the Classic points + Solid points + Professional points) is the Dosage Index. (Dividing the stamina points into the speed points.) This number is directly proportional to the speed in a pedigree and inversely proportional to the stamina. A DI of 1.00 indicates a perfect balance of the two.

"Consider the five aptitude groups as points spaced equally along a linear scale where Brilliant is assigned a value of +2.00, Intermediate is +1.00, Classic is 0.00, Solid is -1.00 and Professional is -2.00, the DP allows for the calculation of the Center of Distribution, that point along the scale corresponding to the total combined influence of all 'chefs' in the pedigree. Calculation of the CD is done by taking the sum of (twice the Brilliant points) + (Intermediate points) - (Solid points) - (twice the Professional points) and dividing that number by the total points in the DP. An exact balance of speed and stamina yields a CD of 0.00."

PEDIGREE CROSS INDEX

This Pedigree Cross Index allows a breeder to nick, inbreed or outcross his broodmares by easy reference. Indexed are the names of sires and dams included within the first three generations of all the stallions in the 2021 Stallion Directory.

Example: DIXIELAND BAND - Capo Kane, Editorial, Limehouse, Talent Search, Uptowncharlybrown

In the above example, Dixieland Band appears in one of the first three generations of all the stallions listed after him.

Suppose a breeder has a mare that is a granddaughter of Mr. Prospector or has crosses of that sire in a mare's pedigree. He may want to breed her to a stallion with Northern Dancer blood to take advantage of the Northern Dancer—Mr. Prospector nick. By looking up "Northern Dancer" in this index, he can quickly see all the stallions in this register that have Northern Dancer appearing in one of the first three generations of their pedigrees.

If a breeder's mare is a granddaughter of Seattle Slew, he may wish to inbreed to that stallion and thereby get more of Seattle Slew's makeup in the foal. By checking "Seattle Slew" in the index, the breeder can readily find all the advertised stallions that have Seattle Slew in their pedigrees.

What if a breeder's mare is already inbred or linebred? She might have 2 or 3 crosses of Deputy Minister in her first four generations for example. The breeder may want to make sure the stallion he chooses for his mare has no Deputy Minister or no Deputy Minister up close in his pedigree. By looking up "Deputy Minister" in the index, he can readily see the stallions in this Stallion Register he should avoid for his mare.

The pedigree cross index was prepared by The Jockey Club Information Services.
